Rev. Herman G. Stuempfle Jr., pastor of Christ Lutheran Church, was re-elected president of the Auxiliary of the Adams County Home Thursday afternoon at a meeting of the auxiliary at the home.

Rev. Dr. H. W. Sternat, Biglerville, was named vice president; Mrs. Glenn Slaybaugh, Biglerville, secretary; and Mrs. Clarence Smith, Fayetteville, R. D., treasurer.

Further plans were discussed for the annual Christmas Party to be held for the guests at the county home Friday, December 21. Deily, East Berlin R. 1, phone East Berlin 2106. It was reported that rubber mats have been placed inside and immediately outside bathtubs at the home to prevent slipping. Allies Will Be Given Modern Weapons To Fire Atomic Shells But U.S. Will Retain Warheads

By STANLEY JOHNSON

PARIS (AP)—The United States today promised to supply modern weapons, capable of firing atomic charges, to its NATO allies but made it clear that the United States will retain possession of the atomic warheads.

A U.S. source said the new weapons to be made available have "dual capacity," meaning that they can fire either conventional or nuclear explosives.

He said that because of the U.S. law prohibiting transfer of military atomic elements to foreign countries, only the conventional explosives would be furnished to allies of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization.

The U.S. promise came in a 15-minute report by Defense Secretary Charles E. Wilson in answer to requests from European NATO members for tactical atomic weapons.

Wilson spoke at a closed session of the Ministerial Council of the 15-nation alliance.

The session also named Belgian Foreign Minister Paul-Henri Spaak, a middle-of-the-road

None Injured When Car And Truck Crash

Damage totaled $950 but no one was injured when a truck and car crashed three miles west of here on the Fairfield Rd. at its intersection with the Orrtanna Rd. at 11:45 o'clock Thursday night.

State police said Richard E. Fleming, 45, Gettysburg R. 3, was driving east in the truck, on the Fairfield Rd. when he failed to negotiate the curve properly and struck a westbound car operated by Earl John Mickey, 35, Gettysburg R. 2. Damage was estimated at $700 to the car and $250 to the truck.

THREE JAILED AFTER HEARING BEFORE JUSTICE

An investigation that began when Miss Julia Petrow, 46, S. Washington St., complained that a Gettysburg R. D. man had struck her in the eyes led to three pleas of guilty on charges of contributing to the delinquency of a minor before Justice of the Peace John H. Basehore Thursday afternoon.

Miss Petrow, James Gilbert Wagaman, 66, Gettysburg R. 5, and Daniel F. Shorb, 32, Orrtanna R. D., all entered pleas before the justice to charges of furnishing beer to a minor, contributing to the delinquency of a minor and contributing to the delinquency of a ward of the juvenile court, the three counts of the "contributing" charge.

In default of $1,000 bail the three defendants were returned to the Adams County jail to await sentence by the court.

Fight Follows Beer

The case began several weeks ago when Miss Petrow brought a charge against a Gettysburg R. D. man claiming he had blackened her eyes. After he was arrested she said that he was not the man who had assaulted her. Police learned that Miss Petrow had asked Wagaman, Shorb and a 15-year-old youth to drive her "some place for some beer." The trio, according to police, took Miss Petrow to an establishment near Fairfield where beer was secured. The youths, according to police, was the driver of the car. Later developments resulted, according to police, in Shorb striking Miss Petrow. A charge of assault and battery has also been brought against him. He is alleged to have told police that Miss Petrow struck him first.

Miss Petrow was arrested Monday. Wagaman Tuesday and Shorb Wednesday. All had been in jail in default of bail for the hearing.

STOCKS EDGE UP

NEW YORK (AP)—The stock market was up a bit on average in quiet early trading today.

Pivotal issues rose from fractions to around a point.

The market was resuming yesterday's technical rebound which followed three sessions of lower prices. Rails, which were a big factor in yesterday's good rise, were ahead by fractions. The carriers hope for a favorable decision from the Interstate Commerce Commission on their request for a 7 per cent freight rate increase.

Steels, some motors, oils and several manufacturing and non-ferrous metals stocks also gained some ground. Rubber stocks were off.

MAGAZINE USES DILLON ARTICLE

The new forms used by the Warner Hospital in connection with patient admissions and care were recommended as models by "The Modern Hospital," national medical magazine, published in Chicago, in its December issue.

"Admissions Don't Have To Be Complicated" is the title of a three-page article by Walter B. Dillon, administrator of the Warner Hospital, appearing in the publication.

Approximately one-half of the space devoted to the article contains illustrations of the former patients' register, consent forms, laboratory instruction forms, and other records kept by the hospital, which are listed on one page, and the present seven forms which take care of all required records, and which appear on Page 83.

The articles states that under the new system the headings, containing pertinent information about the patients, are typed at one operation on the seven sheets and the sheets are assigned to various departments, so that all will have information needed, and then add such information as is obtained in their departments before being returned for the complete medical record file after the patient leaves the hospital.

FIRE CHIEFS PLAN ANNUAL LADIES' NIGHT

Plans for the annual Ladies' Night banquet were outlined Thursday evening at a meeting of the Adams County Fire Chiefs' Association at Aboltstown fire hall.

President Bernard V. Miller named Eugene Murren, Donald Kemper, W. D. Rodgers, John Poist and G. Henry Roth as the committee to arrange for the annual dinner to be held February 14 at a site to be selected at the January meeting.

The committee will check with various fire department auxiliaries to determine the cost of the banquet and report back for final selection of the site next month.

A committee comprising John Sneeringer, Francis Noel and Glenn Oiler were appointed to submit a list of nominees for office at the January meeting.

Following a discussion the fire chiefs voted to have the letter "A" added to the call number of the various ambulances and rescue trucks owned by the county fire departments. Under the present CD radio network identification the ambulances and rescue trucks are assigned a number, just as are fire trucks. By using the number and adding the letter "A," the chiefs held, the ambulances can quickly identify themselves as such when engaged in various duties.

Donald Staub and Frank Linn were chosen as a committee to meet with the inspector of the radio frequency of the radio sets in the fire trucks to provide a complete listing of all of the fire radios in the county.

2 PLEAD GUILTY TO VIOLATIONS OF LOBBY ACT

WASHINGTON (AP)—Two lawyer-lobbyists pleaded guilty today to violating the Lobbying Act by failing to register while working for the controversial natural gas bill.

The two—Elmer Patman of Austin, Tex., and John M. Neff of Lexington, Neb.—were fined $2,500 each and given one-year jail sentences which were suspended.

The Superior Oil Co., of California, which employed them, was fined $5,000 on each of two counts of "aiding and abetting" the failure of Patman and Neff to register.

Dropped Counts

The government dropped all other counts of the indictment, including an allegation that Neff and Patman improperly tried to influence the vote of Sen. Francis Case (R-Sd.) on the natural gas bill.

The count to which Patman and Neff entered guilty pleas is a misdemeanor which carried a maximum penalty of $5,000 and a year in jail.

The gas bill was intended to exempt independent natural gas producers from direct federal price regulation. It finally was passed by Congress but President Eisenhower vetoed it. The President said he was in favor of the measure's aims but disapproved the measure because of "arrogant" efforts on its behalf by some petroleum interests.

Case rejected a $2,500 campaign contribution which Neff left with a friend in Sioux Falls, S.D., and ultimately voted against the gas bill.

PULLS TRIGGER, KILLS HUSBAND ON HIS "DARE"

CLEVELAND (AP)—A young mother of four told police today that when her husband handed her a shotgun and said "Go on, I dare you," she pulled the trigger and killed him.

It was the 108th homicide in Cleveland this year, a new record. But Mrs. Elizabeth Steele, 31, declared "I thought he had put the safety catch on" and professed that she really didn't mean to kill her husband, Edward, 32.

The shooting was last night in the family's apartment at the Cedar-Central Housing Project.

Had $30 Left

Detective Frank Dimpierio said the woman told him Steele came home drunk, "had only $30 left from his pay," and "started bragging about a girl he had met in a bar."

During the argument, police said, Mrs. Steele got two shotgun shells from a cupboard, and took them to the bedroom, where two shotguns were kept in a rack. As soon as she had loaded one, her husband made the dare.

LITTLE LEAGUES TO INCORPORATE

Incorporation of the Little League as a non-profit corporation is sought in papers filed with the prothonotary today by Attorney John A. MacPhail of the law firm of Swope, Brown and Swope.

The Little League's corporation is listed as having as its purpose "to promote the general welfare of the community and to combat juvenile delinquency by implanting firmly in the youth of the community the ideals of good sportsmanship, honesty, loyalty, courage and reverence so that they may be finer, stronger and happier boys and will grow to be good, clean and healthy men; to provide and supervise competition, athletic games, recreational facilities and playgrounds for youth and to do all the things essential to effect the foregoing purposes."

Listed as the incorporators and directors are Rev. Porter W. Seiwel, 68 Maple Ave., Littlestown; Marvin Breighner, 444 Prince St., Littlestown; Richard Selby, 408 Prince St., Littlestown; Robert J. Stonessier, 12 S. Queen St., Littlestown; and Karl P. Bankert, 312 N. Queen St., Littlestown.

The address of Rev. Seiwel is listed as the address of the proposed corporation. Assets are listed as totaling $269.11.

HELD FOR COURT

Yake, the boy said Boyer hit him "pretty hard" and "more than once or twice." He said he did not "menace, attack or strike" Boyer. The father told of marks on the boy's face and head he noticed that evening.

Three other boys, Larry Hankey, 14, 19 Fifth St.; Norman L. Rudisill, 14, 514 York St., and William Rentzel, 16, 113 Hanover St., were sworn as witnesses but did not testify.

Attorney Wolf did not cross-examine and waived his right to call defense witnesses. Justice Snyder observed he had "no choice" but to hold Boyer for court and directed him to renew his $500 bail bond.

RUSSIAN CHILD JOINS MOTHER; GETS PASSPORT

LONDON (AP)—Tiny Tanya Chwastoff—who was on her way to Russia two months ago—was reunited with her mother today and handed an American passport.

The brown-eyed girl, born in Philadelphia in July 1954 to alien parents who met in the United States, smiled as she was carried out of the U.S. Embassy in her mother's arms. Tanya clutched her doll, Nancy, in one hand—and a bright green American passport in the other.

Tanya, over whose custody her Russian-born father, Alexis Chwastoff, and her mother, Mrs. Elena Dieczok, of Detroit, fought in a British court, will fly back to the United States tonight. Her mother said they would go to Michigan to "enjoy the best Christmas ever."

Makes Ruling
A British judge ruled yesterday that Tanya should be brought up as an American. He ordered her returned to her mother, who had flown to Britain after Tanya was spirited out of the United States by her father and finally taken off a Soviet cargo ship in October as it was about to sail for Leningrad. The child was made a ward of the court.

The child had lived with her father at the Soviet Embassy since then.

PLAN REMOVES CRAFT FROM AIR FORCE CONTROL

WASHINGTON (AP)—A new Pentagon plan to consolidate direction of its transport planes will remove from Air Force control at least three and possibly up to 14 wings of aircraft.

The Defense Department last night announced creation of a "single manager" system calling for the pooling of an initial total of 717 troop and cargo carrying planes now operated by the Military Air Transport Service, the Air Force and the Navy.

Eventually, the Pentagon expects to enlarge this fleet to 2,000 planes by drawing on an available total of 4,000 Air Force and Navy transports.

Has Impact
Officials disclosed that the new order has direct impact on the Air Force's unit structure.

At the outset, three heavy wings of C124 type planes will be removed from Air Force control and turned over to the unified agency which will be headed by Secretary of the Air Force Quarles.

The transportation officials said the Defense Department also has "under study" a proposal to remove medium transport wings from Air Force control. The Air Force presently has 11 such units.

HARRISBURG (AP)—The Public Instruction Department today declared its support for a proposed constitutional amendment to change the borrowing powers of Pennsylvania school boards.

WASHINGTON (AP)—Federal tax collections averaged a record $447 for every person in the country during the fiscal year ended last June 30, the Internal Revenue Service said today.

KIDNAP SLAYER FACES DEATH IN SING SING CHAIR

MINEOLA, N.Y. (AP)—Angelo LaMarca, the kidnap slayer of baby Peter Weinberger, today was sentenced to die in Sing Sing Prison's electric chair the week of Jan. 28.

Nassau County Judge Mario Pittoni passed the execution sentence, after rejecting a number of motions to set aside LaMarca's conviction.

Kidnap Baby
LaMarca was convicted a week ago by a jury of 12 fathers of kidnaping and first degree murder. The verdict carried a mandatory death penalty.

LaMarca, 31-year-old mechanic and cab driver, kidnaped the Weinberger baby last July 4, and abandoned the 32-day-old infant to die in a thick coat of Long Island road.

At his sentencing, he stood erect, held his head up, and eyed the judge levelly, in contrast to his bearing throughout his trial, when he sat slumped, his eyes constantly downcast.

In the spectators' seats, LaMarca's wife, his mother, father, and sister-in-law heard the sentence without any special show of emotion.

An appeal to the death sentence is automatic.

Defense Atty. David Markowitz entered his formal exception to the sentence after his several motions to overturn the verdict were turned down by the judge.

SATELLITES TO BE FIRED WITH SUBSATELLITES

WASHINGTON (AP)—Some of the earth satellites which will be fired hundreds of miles into the air during the 1957-1958 International Geophysical Year will carry "subsateellites." It was announced today.

The National Advisory Committee for Aeronautics said the subsateellites, weighing only 10½ ounces, will be inflated automatically after being ejected from a rocket booster. This booster will be the third and last of a series designed to send the main satellite to its maximum altitude some 300 miles above the earth.

In its announcement, NACA said the subsatellite "will be especially valuable in measurement of the density of air in the extreme outer limits of the earth's atmosphere and in determining the satellite's drag."

"The Novel Manner"
Made of aluminum-coated plastic, the subsateellites will be inflated to a diameter of 20 inches, the same as the satellite itself.

The NACA credited William J. O'Sullivan Jr., aeronautical research scientist at the NACA's Langley (Va.) Aeronautical Laboratory, with originating what it called "the novel manner" of subsatellite construction.

Larger subsateellites, which would be visible to the human eye while aloft, may be built for later use, the announcement said. O'Sullivan said information from the ground will have a bearing on the design of future satellite vehicles; long range, rocket-boosted gliders; and intercontinental ballistic missiles.

Asquith Speaks
Dean Asquith, entomologist at the Ardenstville Fruit Research Laboratory, spoke on the "Effects of Sprays on Fruit Yields." John D. Naugle, assistant county farm agent, led a discussion on "Management and Feeding Problems in Dairying."

Asquith reported that experiments on apple trees between the ages of five and seven showed larger yields where captan was used in comparison to Glyodin and Perbam. Glyodin gave a better yield than Ferbam. While captan was more expensive the extra cost was justified by increases in production in all but one case.

Speaking also on "Results of Pre-bloom Mite Control Sprays," Asquith said three combinations of sprays gave good control. A spray of 225 pounds 15 per cent Parathion wettable powder and ¼ pounds of a 50 per cent over gave good control. So did a combination of the same materials with three pounds of EPN 300 added.

The third material was one pint of 23 per cent Systox applied on May 1 and May 29.

All of the trees were sprayed with fungicides in addition to the insecticides. In the delayed dormant glyodin was used at three quarts per 100 gallon of spray. In the prebloom a Mag. 70 sulphur paste plus Ferbam was used.

Need Higher Yields
The cost of operation in "the highly competitive fruit business is increasing. We must get higher yields. Where we had to gross $100 per acre to stay in business ten years ago, now we must have $200 and in the near future the amount will be $300," Asquith said.

Naugle told the group: "There is a definite need to have a large enough herd to obtain a satisfactory return per hour worked. An operation on nine or less cows will return an average of 28 cents per hour, while an operation of 25 or more cows will return an average of 53 cents per hour. The achievement of a high level of milk production through proper feeding, weeding, breeding and management is absolutely essential to success. DHIA has helped many farmers do a better job of weeding poor producers. A sound grassland and roughage program is also an essential."

OUSTED HAITIAN SENT TO JAMAICA

PORT AU PRINCE, Haiti (U.S.) — Former President Paul Magloire today began his exile in Jamaica after being forced out of Haiti by a determined sidown strike.

Magloire and nine members of his family reached Kingston after a flight from Port au Prince in a Haitian army plane. The ex-president declined to make any statement on his arrival in Jamaica, saying only that his plans were indefinite.

Magloire was the first president in Haiti's history named directly by the people. His term ended Dec. 6 but he tried to continue in power as "chief of state." The nation reacted promptly with three days of sidown strikes that brought all normal activity virtually to a halt.

Wednesday night Magloire gave in to the "cold revolution" and stepped down as chief of state. The strike continued until his plans to leave the country were announced. That word touched off a wild celebration.

A radio announcement also said Magloire had resigned as an army general at the demand of both officers and enlisted men.

As provided in this little Caribbean republic's constitution, the president of the Supreme Court, Joseph Nemours Pierre-Louis, took over the office of the presidency.

Special Children's Stamp Here Tuesday

Postmaster Lawrence E. Oyer announced today that the 3-cent commemorative Children's Stamp of 1956, announced recently in Washington, will go on sale at the local post office next Tuesday.

Acting Postmaster General Maurice H. Stans announced on November 27 that the new stamp, the subject of wide interest over the nation, will go on first day sale in Washington on Saturday. President Eisenhower and other top officials are expected to participate in White House ceremonies in connection with the new stamp.

Postmaster General Arthur E. Summerfield has termed the stamp a "symbol of the aspirations of all Americans who fervently hope for world peace in the years ahead, stressing the fact that our children of today are the hope of the world tomorrow," the local postmaster pointed out.

The design for the stamp, carrying the slogan, "Friendship — The Key to World Peace," was selected from among designs submitted during a national competition by the grade school and high school children of the United States, its territories and possessions. The winning design was submitted by Ronald Dias, 19, a former student of Roosevelt High School, Honolulu, Hawaii.

The nine incorporators, who also are serving as directors, are Robert Snyder, Gaidners R. 2, president; Norman Blocher, Aspers R. 1, secretary; Harold Baltzley and Earl Blocher, Aspers R. 1; Clarence Blocher, Gaidners R. 2; Dale and Henry Cium, Clifford Rice and Willy Wenk, Bendersville.

Charge Husband In Fatal Blast Today

NORWALK, Conn. (U.S.) — An explosion which shattered a four-room bungalow killed a 35-year-old woman early today and led to a charge of murder against her husband.

Their two sons were injured slightly. Detective Capt. Joseph Beres said the husband, George Nadin, about 37, had written a note providing "sufficient evidence" to support the charge. Beres declined to disclose the contents of the note, but said it was found in the wreckage.

A warrant charging murder was served on Nadin at Norwalk Hospital where he was under treatment for shock.

DEMOCRATS TO SHOOT FOR BRIEF SESSION IN '57

HARRISBURG (U.S.) — Top Democratic leaders were agreed today on a general strategy for the 1957 session of the Legislature of presenting the administration program early and "shooting for a short session."

But those attending the 4 1/2 hour conference last night declined to spell out the administration program in specific terms. Nor would they say if the all-important tax issue was discussed.

"It was kind of a general policy meeting," said a source close to Gov. Leader. "It was agreed to get the legislation and the budget in early and to shoot for a short session."

GOP On Same Path Republican leaders also have talked of a short session, lasting possibly 6 months, in contrast to the 17-months session in 1955-56.

The tax issue revolves around the state's 3 per cent sales tax, whether that rate should drop to 2 per cent, and if continued at 3 per cent, would it produce sufficient revenue to balance the 1957-59 budget of 2 billion dollars.

Sen. Joseph M. Barr, Democratic state chairman, said the group decided to revive the Young Democrats of Pennsylvania. Barr said he would soon appoint a director to set up a statewide young Democrat program.

Round pencil lead has been used only since 1876; before that, leads were square.

One-Day Strike Of 1,050 Is Settled

MORRISVILLE, Pa. (U.S.) — A walkout at the U. S. Steel's National Tube Division ended today when workers returned to the jobs for the 7 a. m.-3 p. m. shift.

The division's 1,050 workers had walked off their jobs yesterday and threw up picket lines. The 4,500 employees of the steel firm's larger steel division here were permitted to go to work during the strike, which was called unauthorized by both the Steel Workers Union and the company.

Neither the union nor the company would comment on the strike or today's return to work, pending a meeting to discuss the walk-out.

OUSTED HAITIAN SENT TO JAMAICA

PORT AU PRINCE, Haiti (AP) — Former President Paul Magloire today began his exile in Jamaica after being forced out of Haiti by a determined sitdown strike.

Magloire and nine members of his family reached Kingston after a flight from Port au Prince in a Haitian army plane. The ex-president declined to make any statement on his arrival in Jamaica, saying only that his plans were indefinite.

Magloire was the first president in Haiti's history named directly by the people. His term ended Dec. 6 but he tried to continue in power as "chief of state." The nation reacted promptly with three days of sitdown strikes that brought all normal activity virtually to a halt. Wednesday night Magloire gave in to the "cold revolution" and stepped down as chief of state. The strike continued until his plans to leave the country were announced. That word touched off a wild celebration.

A radio announcement also said Magloire had resigned as an army general at the demand of both officers and enlisted men.

Special Children's Stamp Here Tuesday

Postmaster Lawrence E. Oyler announced today that the 3-cent commemorative Children's Stamp of 1956, announced recently in Washington, will go on sale at the local post office next Tuesday.

Acting Postmaster General Maurice H. Stans announced on November 27 that the new stamp, the subject of wide interest over the nation, will go on first day sale in Washington on Saturday. President Eisenhower and other top officials are expected to participate in White House ceremonies in connection with the new stamp.

Postmaster General Arthur E. Summerfield has termed the stamp a "symbol of the aspirations of all Americans who fervently hope for world peace in the years ahead, stressing the fact that our children of today are the hope of the world tomorrow," the local postmaster pointed out.

The design for the stamp, carrying the slogan, "Friendship — The Key to World Peace," was selected from among designs submitted during a national competition by the grade school and high school children of the United States, its territories and possessions. The winning design was submitted by Ronald Dias, 19, a former student of Roosevelt High School, Honolulu, Hawaii.

2 PLEAD GUILTY TO VIOLATIONS OF LOBBY ACT

WASHINGTON (AP)—Two lobbyist pleaded guilty today to violating the Lobbying Act by failing to register while working for the controversial natural gas bill.

The two—Elmer Patman of Austin, Tex., and John M. Neff of Lexington, Neb.—were fined $2,500 each and given one-year jail sentences which were suspended.

The Superior Oil Co. of California, which employed them, was fined $5,000 on each of two counts of "aiding and abetting" the failure of Patman and Neff to register.

Dropped Counts
The government dropped all other counts of the indictment, including an allegation that Neff and Patman improperly tried to influence the vote of Sen. Francis Case (R-S.D.) on the natural gas bill.

The count to which Patman and Neff entered guilty pleas is a misdemeanor which carries a maximum penalty of $5,000 and a year in jail.

The gas bill was intended to exempt independent natural gas producers from direct federal price regulation. It finally was passed by Congress but President Eisenhower vetoed it. The President said he was in favor of the measure's aims but disapproved the measure because of "arrogant" efforts on its behalf by some petroleum interests.

Case rejected a $2,500 campaign contribution which Neff left with a friend in Sioux Falls, S.D., and ultimately voted against the gas bill.

PULLS TRIGGER, KILLS HUSBAND ON HIS "DARE"

CLEVELAND (AP)—A young mother of four told police today that when her husband handed her a shotgun and said "Go on, I dare you," she pulled the trigger and killed him.

It was the 108th homicide in Cleveland this year, a new record. But Mrs. Elizabeth Steele, 31, declared "I thought he had put the safety catch on," and professed that she really didn't mean to kill her husband, Edward, 32.

The shooting was last night in the family's apartment at the Cedar-Central Housing Project. Had $30 Left Detective Frank Dimperio said the woman told him Steele came home drunk, "had only $30 left from his pay," and "started bragging about a girl he had met in a bar."

During the argument, police said, Mrs. Steele got two shotgun shells from a cupboard, and took them to the bedroom, where two shotguns were kept in a rack. As soon as she had loaded one, her husband made the dare.

LITTLE LEAGUES TO INCORPORATE

Incorporation of the Little League as a non-profit corporation is sought in papers filed with the prothonotary today by Attorney John A. MacPhail of the law firm of Sape, Brown and Swope.

The Little League's corporation is listed as having as its purpose "to promote the general welfare of the community and to combat juvenile delinquency by implanting firmly in the youth of the community the ideals of good sportsmanship, honesty, loyalty, courage and reverence so that they may be finer, stronger and happier boys and will grow to be good, clean and healthy men; to provide and supervise competition athletic games, recreational facilities and playgrounds for youth and to do all the things essential to effect the foregoing purposes."

Listed as the incorporators and directors are Rev. Porter W. Seibel, 68 Maple Ave., Littlestown; Marvin Breighner, 444 Prince St., Littlestown; Richard Seibel, 408 Prince St., Littlestown; Robert J. Stoner, 12 S. Queen St., Littlestown; and Karl P. Banker, 312 N. Queen St., Littlestown.

The address of Rev. Seibel is listed as the address of the proposed corporation. Assets are listed as totaling $269.11.

Take, the boy said Borer hit him "pretty hard" and "more than once or twice." He said he did not "menace, attack or strike" Borer. The father told of marks on the boy's face and head he noticed that evening.

Three other boys, Larry Hanker, 14, 19 Fifth St.; Norman L. Rudolph, 14, 514 York St.; and William Bentzel, 16, 113 Hanover St., were sworn as witnesses but did not testify.

Attorney Wolf did not cross-examine and waived his right to call defense witnesses. Judge Snyder observed he had "no choice" but to hold Borer for court and directed him to renew his $500 bail bond.

Kidnap Baby
LaMarca was convicted a week ago by a jury of 12 fathers of kidnapping and first degree murder. The verdict carried a mandatory death penalty.

LaMarca, 31-year-old mechanic and cab driver, kidnapped the Weinberger baby last July 4, and abandoned the 32-day-old infant to die in a thicket off a Long Island road.

At his sentencing, he stood erect, held his head up, and eyed the judge levelly, in contrast to his bearing throughout his trial, when he sat slumped, his eyes constantly downcast.

In the spectators' seats, LaMarca's wife, his mother, father, and sister-in-law heard the sentence without any special show of emotion.

An appeal to the death sentence is automatic.

Defense Atty. David Markowitz entered his formal exception to the sentence after his several motions to overturn the verdict were turned down by the judge.

RUSSIAN CHILD JOINS MOTHER; GETS PASSPORT

LONDON (AP)—Tiny Tanya Chwastov—who was on her way to Russia two months ago—was reunited with her mother today and handed an American passport.

The brown-eyed girl, born in Philadelphia in July 1954 to alien parents who met in the United States, smiled as she was carried out of the U.S. Embassy in her mother's arms. Tanya clutched her doll, Nancy, in one hand—and a bright green American passport in the other.

Tanya, over whose custody her Russian-born father, Alexis Chwastov, and her mother, Mrs. Elena Dieczok, of Detroit, fought in a British court, will fly back to the United States tonight. Her mother said they would go to Michigan to "enjoy the best Christmas ever."

Makes Ruling
A British judge ruled yesterday that Tanya should be brought up as an American. He ordered her returned to her mother, who had flown to Britain after Tanya was spirited out of the United States by her father and finally taken off a Soviet cargo ship in October as it was about to sail for Leningrad. The child was made a ward of the court.

The child had lived with her father at the Soviet Embassy since then.

PLAN REMOVES CRAFT FROM AIR FORCE CONTROL

WASHINGTON (AP)—A new Pentagon plan to consolidate direction of its transport planes will remove from Air Force control at least three and possibly up to 14 wings of aircraft.

The Defense Department last night announced creation of a "single manager" system calling for the pooling of an initial total of 717 troop and cargo carrying planes now operated by the Military Air Transport Service, the Air Force and the Navy.

Eventually, the Pentagon expects to enlarge this fleet to 2,000 planes by drawing on an available total of 4,000 Air Force and Navy transports.

Has Impact
Officials disclosed that the new order has direct impact on the Air Force's unit structure.

At the outset, three heavy wings of C124 type planes will be removed from Air Force control and turned over to the unified agency which will be headed by Secretary of the Air Force Quarries.

The transportation officials said the Defense Department also has "under study" a proposal to remove medium transport wings from Air Force control. The Air Force presently has 11 such units.

Dr. Charles H. Boehm, superintendent of public instruction, said in a statement that an amendment "to put the borrowing power of school boards on a realistic, modern base . . . could save millions of dollars in interest rates alone on the school buildings erected each biennium."

WASHINGTON (AP)—Federal tax collections averaged a record $447 for every person in the country during the fiscal year ended last June 30, the Internal Revenue Service said today.

The 1955 average was based on record collections of $75,112,649, 600 from a population totaling 168,061,000.

KIDNAP SLAYER FACES DEATH IN SING SING CHAIR

MINEOLA, N.Y. (AP)—Angelo LaMarca, the kidnaper of baby Peter Weinberger, today was sentenced to die in Sing Sing Prison's electric chair the week of Jan. 28.

Nassau County Judge Mario Pitlori passed the execution sentence, after rejecting a number of motions to set aside LaMarca's conviction.

LaMarca was convicted a week ago by a jury of 12 fathers of kidnapping and first degree murder. The verdict carried a mandatory death penalty.

LaMarca, 31-year-old mechanic and cab driver, kidnapped the Weinberger baby last July 4, and abandoned the 32-day-old infant to die in a thicket off a Long Island road.

At his sentencing, he stood erect, held his head up, and eyed the judge levelly, in contrast to his bearing throughout his trial, when he sat slumped, his eyes constantly downcast.

An appeal to the death sentence is automatic.

SATELLITES TO BE FIRED WITH SUBSATELLITES

WASHINGTON (AP)—Some of the earth satellites which will be fired hundreds of miles into the air during the 1957-1958 International Geophysical Year will carry "subsateellites," it was announced today.

The National Advisory Committee for Aeronautics said the subsateellites, weighing only 10½ ounces, will be inflated automatically after being ejected from a rocket booster. This booster will be the third and last of a series designed to send the main satellite to its maximum altitude some 300 miles above the earth.

In its announcement, NACA said the subsateellite "will be especially valuable in measurement of the density of air in the extreme outer limits of the earth's atmosphere and in determining the satellite's drag."

"The Novel Manner"
Made of aluminum-coated plastic, the subsateellites will be inflated to a diameter of 20 inches, the same as the satellite itself.

The NACA credited William J. O'Sullivan Jr., aeronautical research scientist at the NACA's Langley (Va.) Aeronautical Laboratory, with originating what it called "the novel manner" of subsateellite construction.

Larger subsateellites, which would be visible to the human eye while aloft, may be built for later uses, the announcement said.

O'Sullivan said information to be obtained by visual and radar observations of the subsateellite from the ground will have a bearing on the design of future satellite vehicles: long range, rocket-boosted gliders; and intercontinental ballistic missiles.

Asquith Speaks
Dean Asquith, entomologist at the Agricultural Experiment Station, spoke on the "Effects of Sprays on Fruit Yields." John D. Naugle, assistant county farm agent, led a discussion on "Management and Feeding Problems in Dairying."

Asquith reported that experiments on apple trees between the ages of five and seven showed larger yields where cactan was used in comparison to Glyodin and Ferbam. Glyodin gave a better yield than Ferbam. While cactan was more expensive the extra cost was justified by increases in production in all but one case.

Speaking also on "Results of Pre-bloom Mite Control Sprays," Asquith said three combinations of sprays gave good control. A spray of 2.25 pounds 15 per cent Parathion wettable powder and 4 pounds of a 50 per cent over gave good control. So did a combination of the same materials with three pounds of EPN 300 added.

The third material was one pint of 23 per cent Systox applied on May 1 and May 29.

All of the trees were sprayed with fungicides in addition to the insecticides. In the delayed dormant glyodin was used at three quarts per 100 gallon of spray. In the prebloom a Mag. 70 sulphur paste plus Ferbam was used.

Need Higher Yields
The cost of operation in "the highly competitive fruit business is increasing. We must get higher yields. Where we had to gross $100 per acre to stay in business ten years ago, now we must have $200 and in the near future the amount will be $300," Asquith said.

Naugle told the group: "There is a definite need to have a large enough herd to obtain a satisfactory return per hour worked. An operation on nine or less cows will return an average of 28 cents per hour, while an operation of 25 or more cows will return an average of 53 cents per hour. The achievement of a high level of milk production through proper feeding, breeding, and management is absolutely essential to success. DHIA has helped many farmers do a better job of weeding poor producers. A sound grassland and roughage program is also an essential."

Today's Talk

ACCEPT!
There are not too many people who are perfectly satisfied with their lot in life, but the most courageous ones accept without complaint, or at least with few regrets, for what one can't help. All through life we are bound to meet emergencies and problems for settlement that we would be glad if someone else would take care of, but then we would lose out on the opportunity to gain integrity of character and the valuable lesson of patience, courage and acceptance.

It makes us feel proud when we are asked to handle some affair that involves some sort of sacrifice and inconvenience. Then there is the thing of health. How often we are stricken and begin to blame something or somebody for it all, instead of accepting it and handling it and taking it in its stride! The more we fuss about anything unpleasant, the more irritating it becomes. Accept and pass on!

We all owe so much to a Beneficent Heavenly Father, who has placed about us all great natural treasures of beauty and who has scattered lavishly about the earth a multitude of opportunities for those who wish to improve their lives and make them worthy and worth while. Whether the talents be one or a dozen, make them grow and bear fruit. Accept your lot and try every day to improve it. Regret nothing! Accept all that may come to you — all but failure. Never accept that. Never give it a moment of consideration. Remember this, as someone has said: "You were born to victory!" Let that fact sink deep into your consciousness. Head up, eyes alert. Don't let the great vision ahead grow dim or fade away!

Tomorrow Mr. Adams will talk on the subject: "Be a Listener".

FAMILY QUIZ
Once more they casually inquire
What size of gloves I wear
Or what for Christmas I desire.
As if they didn't care.
A dinner table round and round
The conversation goes.
Until they're sure they've slyly found
What everybody knows.

My size of shirt is talked about.
My neckties are discussed;
They know my needs, beyond a doubt.
But talk of them they must.
But at the table I pretend
Such talk I never heard
And do not know the quiz will end
When Christmas Day is here.

Well, that's an annual device
That loved ones gladly use—
A family scheme that is no nice
It's one I'd never lose.
Time takes some pleasures sweet away
But in its incessant sweep,
But all the fun of Christmas Day
Always I want to keep.

Santa and the SECRET ROOM

by LUCRECE HUDGINS BEALE

By LUCRECE HUDGINS BEALE
Synopsis: The sorcerer is seeking a magic powder which would transform everything it touches to gold. So far, however, he has managed to change people — including the king, Princess Anne and Santa Claus — into stone!

CHAPTER 10
NO ONE BELIEVES
With Santa Claus and the king and the princess turned to stone I thought the world had come to an end.

I thought, I must get away from here and warn everyone in the kingdom. I pulled myself out of the snow and started to run. But that was a mistake because as soon as I moved I heard a shout.

"Get that boy! Get that boy!" I turned and looked over my shoulder. There was the sorcerer standing at the palace door. He had put his mask back on so that he looked just like the king.

He waved his arms wildly. The sleepy palace guards sprang to attention and looked around in confusion. They didn't know who they were supposed to go after and while they were finding out I slipped under the palace wall.

Then I ran faster, I guess, than any boy ever ran before. Those guards never even got close to me though I could hear them shouting and running a long way behind.

Finally I got out of town and stumbled down the road that led to my home. Then I heard that old jingle, jangle and I knew the horse soldiers had been ordered to join the search.

I thought I was done for until I spied a giant oak tree standing near the road. I'm a good climber. It was easy for me to wiggle up that tree and in no time I was in the tip top branches.

I could see the horse soldiers coming. I thought, if they look up, they'll see me! But they never looked up. They weren't even galloping. They were walking along as though they had been riding for a long, long while and were tired out now.

When they were underneath the tree I could hear them talking. "We've searched every house and road in the kingdom. She's been taken out of the country and there's no use hunting through these roads anymore."

Then I knew they weren't looking for me but for Princess Anne. I wanted to shout down to them, "She's in the palace! She's turned to stone! Go look in the king's secret room!"

But I was afraid they would take me first to the man they believed to be king. So I waited until they were gone. Then I slid down and ran to my home. I was never so glad to see anything as I was that crooked old lane that led to my door. Before I could reach the porch the door flew open and all my seven brothers and seven sisters poured out.

"Alexander! Where have you been! You've had us worried half to death!" They took me into the kitchen. They were all talking at once and hugging me and bawling me out.

I pushed them all off. I said, "Oh, the most awful thing has happened! The king has been turned to stone and so has Santa Claus and all his reindeer!"

Their mouths dropped open and they stared at me. "Oh, do something!" I cried. "There's someone in the palace pretending to be king. He's trying to turn everyone into gold. Oh, what can we do to stop him?"

My sister Amanda dropped on her knees beside me. "Don't worry, Alexander. We'll make everything all right. Don't you worry at all!"

Oh, thank heavens! I thought. Now all will be well. But even as I thought it my heart dropped to my shoes for Amanda turned to Thomas and cried:

"Quickly, get a doctor! He's out of his head!"

The Navy took over possession of first place in the Community Basketball League Thursday evening by nipping Hess Antiques in a thriller 40-38.

A hook shot by Borchers from 10 feet out in the last seven seconds of play gave the Navy its victory. Borchers led his team with 24 points while Rohrbach landed 22 for the Antiques.

In the opening game of the evening the Graniteers copied their first decision by upsetting Wolf's Pastry 45-37 after holding a slim lead most of the way. D. Hise led the attack for the winners who had nine players break into the scoring. Stoner and Reese looped 16 and 15 for the losers.

HERSHEY RATES AMONG BEST IN S. P. CIRCUIT

(This is the fifth in a series of articles on prospects of South Penn Conference basketball teams written by members of the South Penn Sportswriters Association.)

HERSHEY—Led by little Barry Daniels, Hershey High School should enjoy one of its most successful basketball campaigns in recent years under the tutelage of John Hanshue, second-year coach this winter.

The 5-7 Daniels, one of the top point-makers with a 17.8 norm last season, heads up a veteran aggregation that may make its presence felt during 1956-57 wars.

Hanshue has four other veterans to floor along with the speedy Daniels. John Fetterhoff, Lee Moyer, Barry Reilly and Carl Seavers return from year's better-than-average outfit.

Fetterhoff is the big man at 6-4. Moyer tapers off at 6-2 and Seavers is a youngster. Reilly stands about 5-10.

Rosy Future

Fetterhoff is a senior. The other varsity candidates are juniors, painting a rosy picture for the future, if not this year.

Graduation cost Hanshue a couple of standout performers, Pascal DiMaggio and Joe DiBlasio, but the abundance of experienced players on hand has Trojan fans more than hopeful.

Hershey High School has but one South Penn Conference cage championship to its credit (1940) and would like nothing better than to double that count by March.

The Trojans opened their season against Lebanon. They meet Palmyra, Milton Hershey and Alton before the start of conference firing. The schedule:

December 11, Lebanon, home; 18, Palmyra, home; 21, Milton Hershey, away; 28, Alton, home.
January 2, Chambersburg, home; 4, Middletown, away; 11, Hanover, home; 15, Carlisle, away; 18, Mechanicsburg, home; 22, Gettysburg, away; 25, Shippensburg, home; 29, Waynesboro, away.

February 5, Chambersburg, away; 8, Middletown, home; 15, Hanover, away; 18, Carlisle, home; 22, Mechanicsburg, away; 26, Gettysburg, home.
March 1, Shippensburg, away; 5, Waynesboro, home.

Hofstra Sends Three Squads Here Saturday; Matmen Meet At 2; Cagers Start At 6:45

Three Hofstra College athletic teams from Hempstead, Long Island, will provide the opposition for Gettysburg College squads in a big program here Saturday.

At 2 o'clock Saturday afternoon Gene Haas' Bullet wrestlers open their season against the Flying Dutchmen.

A double-header basketball program, first of the home season, will be staged in the evening, the freshmen meeting the Hofstra yearlings at 6:45 after which the varsities clash.

Local fans will be afforded choice general admission seats inasmuch as most college students will leave for their homes Saturday noon when the Christmas vacation begins at the college.

At Mount Tonight
Hofstra's cagers are on a two-day trip to this area. Tonight at 8:30 they meet Mt. St. Mary's at Emmitsburg.

The Flying Dutchmen are predominantly made up of underclassmen, only Dick Pidgeon, 6-6, and Denny Costigan, 6-3½, being seniors. Both will be in the lineup. Other starters will probably include Raymond Cunniff 5-11 sophomore, Dan Geoly, 5-9 sophomore, and Bill Rathje, 6-2 junior.

Rounding out the Blue and Gold squad are Donald Laux 6-2, Bob Lichtenstein 6-0, Art O'Reilly 6-0, Paul Ruppert 6-0, Henry Schwab 6-7 and Howard Smith 6-2, all sophomores, and Harry Mannis 6-0 junior.

Hofstra trounced Baltimore University 72-50 for one of its victories and earlier this week lost to the powerful St. John's quintet of Brooklyn 59-44.

Bob Davies' Bulls began to show some of their long anticipated form in trouncing Western Maryland Wednesday evening. If they show continued improvement they may hand the Dutchmen a surprise.

The Bullet frosh lost their opener at Bucknell 86-68 and seek their first win in the preliminary.

Mat Entries Revealed
Four veterans from last year are scheduled to oppose the always-strong Hofstra grapplers in the afternoon affair. A fifth letterman, Harold Lewis, 147, will be unavailable until January.

Coach Haas has indicated that Ken Purdy, 123 and Bob Walmsley, 130, both in their third year, with the varsity; Barry Kungie, 137, performing for the second year, and Jerry Harrell, 177, another three-year man, have gained regular berths via eliminations. Walmsley was Middle Atlantic champion in his division the last two years while Harrell, as a 167-pounder, won Mid Atlantic honors as a sophomore.

Two sophomores, Ron Scott, 147, and Paul Nones, 157, and a junior Tom Nell, 167, will oppose the Dutchmen. Another soph, Barclay Boyd, who has no previous experience, will go in the heavyweight.

GHS Opens Court Season Tonight Against Delone

Tonight the Gettysburg High School dribblers inaugurate their 1956-57 campaign by meeting Delone Catholic on the local floor.

At 6:45 Coach Ray Ellis' junior varsity clashes with the Squares reserve outfit.

Delone's varsity owns triumphs over Scotland and Littlestown and will be gunning for its third in a row. Coach George Forney, who has four lettermen, has not announced the Warner starting lineup for the initial game.

Other scholastic games tonight include Quincy, at York Springs, Fairfield at Emmitsburg, and East Berlin at North Carroll Joint.

Mt. St. Mary's College stages its first home game of the season this evening when it tangles with Hofstra. The game will start at 8:30. There will be no preliminary.

6 COMPETE FOR HORSE OF YEAR

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Competition for harness racing's Horse of the Year was narrowed to a half dozen pacers and trotters yesterday in balloting sponsored by the U.S. Trotting Assn.

Top horse for 1955 will be tapped from one of these six divisional champions, named by a panel of 95 turf writers:

Hickory Smoke — two-year-old trotter.

Torpid — two-year-old pacer.

Nimble Colby — three-year-old trotter.

Noble Adios — three-year-old pacer.

Scott Frost — aged trotter.

Adios Harry — aged pacer.

Scott Frost, an overwhelming favorite in the aged trotting category with 87 of 92 votes, was the three-year-old trotter and Horse of the Year in 1955.

"Aged Pacer"

Adios Harry was named aged pacer of the year for the second time in a row, outpointing Dottie's Pick 57½ to 27½.

Hickory Smoke, favored to take the $100,000 Hambletonian next year at DuQuoin, Ill., defeated Demon Rum 30 to 27½ in the voting.

Torpid easily outdistanced the filly Good Counsel, 62 to 26. Torpid paced the mile in 1:58, fastest in history for a two-year-old.

Nimble Colby beat out The Intruder, 62 votes to 12, and Noble Adios received 45 votes to 26 for Belle Action.

Hanover Owners
Hickory Smoke is owned by L. B. Sheppard and A. C. Mudge of Hanover, Pa.; Torpid by Max Hochberg of Irvington, N.J.; Nimble Colby by Leo C. McNamara, Carmel, Ind.; Noble Adios by Paul Wixon, Chicago; Scott Frost by Saul Camp, Shafter, Calif.; and Adios Harry by J. Howard Lyons, Greenwood, Del.

Columbus discovered the Virgin Islands on his second voyage to the New World.

A combined squad of approximately 35 freshmen and upperclassmen are working out regularly under Coach Haas.

DONS AND 'BAMA PUT UNBEATEN MARKS ON LINE

By DON WEISS
The Associated Press
The word—or words—today for San Francisco and Alabama, holders of the two longest winning streaks in college basketball, might well be "Watch out!"

With the unbeaten continuing to drop out of line—Western Kentucky, Texas Christian and Xavier of Ohio are the latest—the time may be approaching for the Dons, winners of 59 straight, and 'Bama, which has won its last 20.

Both have a test coming up tonight, San Francisco and its all-time streak against Chicago Loyola in an invitational tournament at Chicago Stadium, and in the opening program of the Birmingham Classic.

Champs To Play
America's Olympic champion basketball team, led by former San Francisco ace Bill Russell and K. C. Jones, also is in the Chicago tournament and will play Santa Clara tonight.

Should the Dons and the Olympians advance to the finals Saturday night, as anticipated, San Francisco's streak will not be endangered since the Olympians aren't a college team.

Alabama, with a 106-point average and a No. 9 rating after four games, probably will have West Virginia to handle Saturday should it get past Duke tonight. The Mountaineers, with Rod Hundley, are heavily favored over Mississippi Southern in the other half of the Birmingham double-header.

Western Kentucky, rated 12th nationally, got its come-uppance from Seton Hall 78-69 in the second game of a double-header at New York's Madison Square Garden last night after Georgetown had disposed of NYU 78-73 in an overtime opener.

TCU Tumbles
The Western Hilltoppers, well below the form that enabled them to average 93 points in three previous games, stayed close to Seton Hall for only a half. Dick Gaines' 17 points led the Pirates' well-distributed scoring.

St. Louis, which drubbed Kentucky Monday night, chopped down another giant with its 90-81 over TCU, which had won its first four. A spring-legged sophomore named Cal Burnett triggered a rally that put the Bullies in control for good late in the first half.

Xavier went through two overtime periods before surrendering its perfect record to Wichita 93-86. A Wichita sub, Cy Rosenditcher, stole the ball in the backcourt and drove in for a layup to send the game into overtime tied at 74. It was 80-80 after the first extra period but Joe Stevens hit on two free throws at the start of the second overtime and Wichita pulled out to win handily.

YANKEES TAKE DAVIS CUP LEAD

PERTH, Australia (AP) — Plucky Herb Flam of Beverly Hills, Calif., outgamed young Ramanathan Krishnan, and "old pro" Vic Seixas crushed Natesh Kumar today as the U.S. Davis Cup team took a 2-0 lead over India in the interzone finals and moved within a step of another meeting with Australia in the challenge round.

Flam, bothered by leg cramps and "over a barrel" three times, tallied brilliantly to defeat Krishnan 7-5, 4-6, 10-8, 2-6, 6-4. Seixas, now 33 and in the midst of his sixth Davis Cup campaign, had only a slight scare in handling Kumar, the Indian playing captain, in straight sets, 6-4, 6-1, 6-2.

The sweep in the opening singles matches at the picturesque Royal Kings Park courts left the Americans needing only one victory in the last three matches to clinch the series and a spot opposite the defending champion Aussies in the challenge round beginning at Adelaide on Dec. 26.

Tomorrow's doubles match, sending Seixas and Sam Gammalla against Krishnan and Kumar, could do it. The series ends Sunday with two more singles matches.

U.S. captain Bill Talbot said he probably would substitute Gammalla and Mike Green of Miami for Seixas and Flam in the last two slugs if the series is clinched tomorrow.

White Will Return As Reading Manager

READING, Pa. — Joe White will return as manager of the Reading Indians for 1957 in a swap with Don Heffner.

Heffner recently was named manager of Mobile in the Southern Association, the team that White piloted last season.

White's appointment by the Eastern League baseball Indians was announced yesterday. He guided the club in winning the 1955 league pennant.

State Trotter Is Top Of 2-Year-Olds

COLUMBUS, O. — Hickory Smoke, Pennsylvania owned and bred, has been voted Two Year Old Trotter of the Year in balloting conducted by The U. S. Trotting Association.

The son of Titan Hanover, owned by L. B. Sheppard and A. C. Mudge of Hanover, narrowly defeated another Pennsylvania colt, Demon Rum, for the honor.

Hickory Smoke polled 39 votes from the 87 turf writers who participated while Demon Rum, property of the Harrison-Sticks Stable of Pittsburgh, garnered 27½.

GIANTS MAY CLINCH EAST CHAMPIONSHIP

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — The New York Giants, needing either a victory or a tie to win the Eastern Division championship of the National Football League close the regular season here tomorrow against the punchless Philadelphia Eagles.

Coach Jim Lee Howell's rugged aggregation carries a 7-3 record into this crucial game, a game ahead of the late-surgings Washington Redskins. If the Giants win or tie, it would eliminate the Redskins, who have two games left to play — one with the Pittsburgh Steelers Sunday—and sport a 6-4 mark. Ties do not count in the NFL standings.

The Chicago Bears and the Detroit Lions meet in Chicago Sunday for the Western Division title. The Lions hold a half-game lead.

New York should win easily if the Philadelphia game runs true to form, something the NFL isn't exactly famous for in the first meeting between the clubs, the Giants won 20-0, handling Coach Chuck Devore's "conservative" offense with little trouble. At that time the Eagles were near full strength. Tomorrow, the wingless Birds, resting in the Eastern Division cellar (3-7-1), will be lucky if they can field eight backs offensively and defensively. Their injury list is huge.

In other weekend games, the Chicago Cardinals play the Cleveland Browns at Cleveland, the Green Bay Packers meet the Rams at Los Angeles, and the Baltimore Colts and the San Francisco 49ers tangle in the West. All three will be played Sunday.

The son of Titan Hanover, owned by L. B. Sheppard and A. C. Mudge of Hanover, narrowly defeated another Pennsylvania colt, Demon Rum, for the honor.

Hickory Smoke polled 39 votes from the 87 turf writers who participated while Demon Rum, property of the Harrison-Sticks Stable of Pittsburgh, garnered 27½.

U.S. captain Bill Talbot said he probably would substitute Gammalla and Mike Green of Miami for Seixas and Flam in the last two slugs if the series is clinched tomorrow.

Hofstra Sends Three Squads Here Saturday; Matmen Meet At 2; Cagers Start At 6:45

Three Hofstra College athletic teams from Hempstead, Long Island, will provide the opposition for Gettysburg College squads in a big program here Saturday.

At 2 o'clock Saturday afternoon Gene Haas' Bullet wrestlers open their season against the Flying Dutchmen.

A double-header basketball program, first of the home season, will be staged in the evening, the freshmen meeting the Hofstra yearlings at 6:45 after which the varsities clash.

Local fans will be afforded choice general admission seats inasmuch as most college students will leave for their homes Saturday noon when the Christmas vacation begins at the college.

At Mount Tonight

Hofstra's cagers are on a two-day trip to this area. Tonight at 8:30 they meet Mt. St. Mary's at Emmitsburg.

The Flying Dutchmen are predominantly made up of underclassmen, only Dick Pidgeon, 6-6, and Denny Costigan, 6-3½, being seniors. Both will be in the lineup. Other starters will probably include Raymond Cunneen, 5-11 sophomore, Dan Geoly, 5-9 sophomore, and Bill Rathje, 6-2 junior.

Rounding out the Blue and Gold squad are Donald Laux 6-2, Bob Lichtenstein 6-0, Art O'Reilly 6-0, Paul Ruppert 6-0, Henry Schwab 6-7 and Howard Smith 6-2, all sophomores, and Harry Manners 6-0 junior.

Hofstra trounced Baltimore University 72-50 for one of its victories and earlier this week lost to the powerful St. John's quintet of Brooklyn 59-44.

Bob Davies' Bullets began to show some of their long anticipated form in trouncing Western Maryland Wednesday evening. If they show continued improvement they may hand the Dutchmen a surprise.

The Bullet frosh lost their opener at Bucknell 86-68 and seek their first win in the preliminary.

Mat Entries Revealed

Four veterans from last year are scheduled to oppose the always-strong Hofstra grapplers in the afternoon affair. A fifth letterman, Harold Lewis, 147, will be unavailable until January.

Coach Haas has indicated that Ken Purdy, 123 and Bob Wamsley, 130, both in their third year with the varsity; Barry Kingle, 137, performing for the second year, and Jerry Harrell, 177, another three-year man, have gained regular berths via eliminations. Wamsley was Middle Atlantic champion in his division the last two years while Harrell, as a 167-pounder, won Mid Atlantic honors as a sophomore.

Two sophomores, Ron Scott, 147, and Paul Nolas, 157, and a junior Tom Nell, 167, will oppose the Dutchmen. Another soph, Barclay Boyd, who has no previous experience, will go in the heavyweight

GHS Opens Court Season Tonight Against Delone

Tonight the Gettysburg High School dribblers inaugurate their 1956-57 campaign by meeting Delone Catholic on the local floor.

At 6:45 Coach Ray Ellis' junior varsity clashes with the Squires reserve outfit.

Delone's varsity owns triumphs over Scotland and Littlestown and will be gunning for its third in a row. Coach George Forney, who has four lettermen, has not announced the Warrior starting lineup for the initial game.

Other scholastic games tonight include Quincy at York Springs, Fairfield at Emmitsburg, and East Berlin at North Carroll Joint.

Mt. St. Mary's College stages its first home game of the season this evening when it tangles with Hofstra. The game will start at 8:30. There will be no preliminary.

6 COMPETE FOR HORSE OF YEAR

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Competition for harness racing's Horse of the Year was narrowed to a half dozen pacers and trotters yesterday in balloting sponsored by the U.S. Trotting Assn.

Top horse for 1956 will be tapped from one of these six divisional champions, named by a panel of 95 turf writers:

Hickory Smoke — two-year-old trotter.

Torpid — two-year-old pacer.

Nimble Colby — three-year-old trotter.

Noble Adios — three-year-old pacer.

Scott Frost — aged trotter.

Adios Harry — aged pacer.

Scott Frost, an overwhelming favorite in the aged trotting category with 87 of 92 votes, was the three-year-old trotter and Horse of the Year in 1955.

"Aged Pacer"

Adios Harry was named aged pacer of the year for the second time in a row, outpointing Dottie's Pick 57½ to 27½.

Hickory Smoke, favored to take the $100,000 Hambletonian next year at DuQuoin, Ill., defeated Demon Rum 30 to 27½ in the voting.

Torpid easily outdistanced the filly Good Counsel, 62 to 26. Torpid paced the mile in 1:58, fastest in history for a two-year-old.

Nimble Colby beat out The Intruder, 62 votes to 12, and Noble Adios received 45 votes to 26 for Belle Action.

Handover Owners

ACCEPT!
There are not too many people who are perfectly satisfied with their lot in life, but the most courageous ones accept without complaint, or at least with few regrets, for what one can't help. One should accept in good grace. All through life we are bound to meet emergencies and problems for settlement that we would be glad if someone else would take care of, but then we would lose out on the opportunity to gain integrity of character and the valuable lesson of patience, courage and acceptance.

It makes us feel proud when we are asked to handle some affair that involves some sort of sacrifice and inconvenience. Then there is the thing of health. How often we are stricken and begin to blame something or somebody for it all. Instead of accepting it and handling it and taking it in its stride! The more we fuss about anything unpleasant, the more irritating it becomes. Accept and pass on!

We all owe so much to a Beneficent Heavenly Father, who has placed about us all great natural treasures of beauty and who has scattered lavishly about the earth a multitude of opportunities for those who wish to improve their lives and make them worthy and worth while. Whether the talents be one or a dozen, make them grow and bear fruit. Accept your lot and try every day to improve it. Regret nothing! Accept all that may come to you — all but failure. Never accept that. Never give it a moment of consideration. Remember this, as someone has said: "You were born to victory!" Let that fact sink deep into your consciousness. Head up, eyes alert. Don't let the great vision ahead grow dim or fade away!

Tomorrow Mr. Adams will talk on the subject: "Be a Listener." Projected, 1956, by the George Matthews Adams Service.

FAMILY QUIZ
Once more they casually inquire
What size of gloves I wear
Or what for Christmas I desire.
As if they didn't care.
A dinner table round and round
The conversation goes,
Until they're sure they're slyly found
What everybody knows.

My size of shirt is talked about.
My neckties are discussed;
They know my needs, beyond a doubt.
But talk of them they must.
But at the table I pretend
Such talk I never heard
And do not know the quiz will end
When Christmas Day is here.

Well, that's an annual device
That loved ones gladly use—
A family scheme that is so nice
It's one I'd never lose.
Time takes some pleasures sweet
Away
In its incessant sweep.
But all the fun of Christmas Day
Always I want to keep.

Santa and the SECRET ROOM

by LUCRECE HUDGINS BEALE

By LUCRECE HUDGINS BEALE
Synopsis: The sorcerer is seeking a magic powder which would transform everything it touches to gold. So far, however, he has managed to change people — including the king, Princess Anne and Santa Claus — into stone!

CHAPTER 10
NO ONE BELIEVES
With Santa Claus and the king and the princess turned to stone I thought the world had come to an end.

I thought, I must get away from here and warn everyone in the kingdom. I pulled myself out of the snow and started to run. But that was a mistake because as soon as I moved I heard a shout.

"Get that boy! Get that boy!" I turned and looked over my shoulder. There was the sorcerer standing at the palace door. He had put his mask back on so that he looked just like the king.

He waved his arms wildly. The sleepy palace guards sprang to attention and looked around in confusion. They didn't know who they were supposed to go after and while they were finding out I slipped under the palace wall.

Then I ran faster, I guess, than any boy ever ran before. Those guards never even got close to me though I could hear them shouting and running a long way behind.

Finally I got out of town and stumbled down the road that led to my home. Then I heard that old jingle, jangle and I knew the horse soldiers had been ordered to join the search.

I thought I was done for until I spied a giant oak tree standing near the road. I'm a good climber. It was easy for me to wiggle up that tree and in no time I was in the tip top branches.

I could see the horse soldiers coming. I thought, If they look up, they'll see me! But they never looked up. They weren't even galloping. They were walking along as though they had been riding for a long, long while and were tired out now.

When they were underneath the tree I could hear them talking. "We've searched every house and road in the kingdom. She's been taken out of the country and there's no use hunting through these roads anymore."

Then I knew they weren't looking for me but for Princess Anne. I wanted to shout out down to them. "She's in the palace! She's turned to stone! Go look in the king's secret room!"

But I was afraid they would take me first to the man they believed to be king. So I waited until they were gone. Then I slid down and ran to my home.

I was never so glad to see anything as I was that crooked old lane that led to my door. Before I could reach the porch the door flew open and all my seven brothers and seven sisters poured out.

"Alexander! Where have you been! You've had us worried half to death!" They took me into the kitchen. They were all talking at once and hugging me and bawling me out. I pushed them all off. I said, "Oh, the most awful thing has happened! The king has been turned to stone and so has Princess Anne and so has Santa Claus and all his reindeer!"

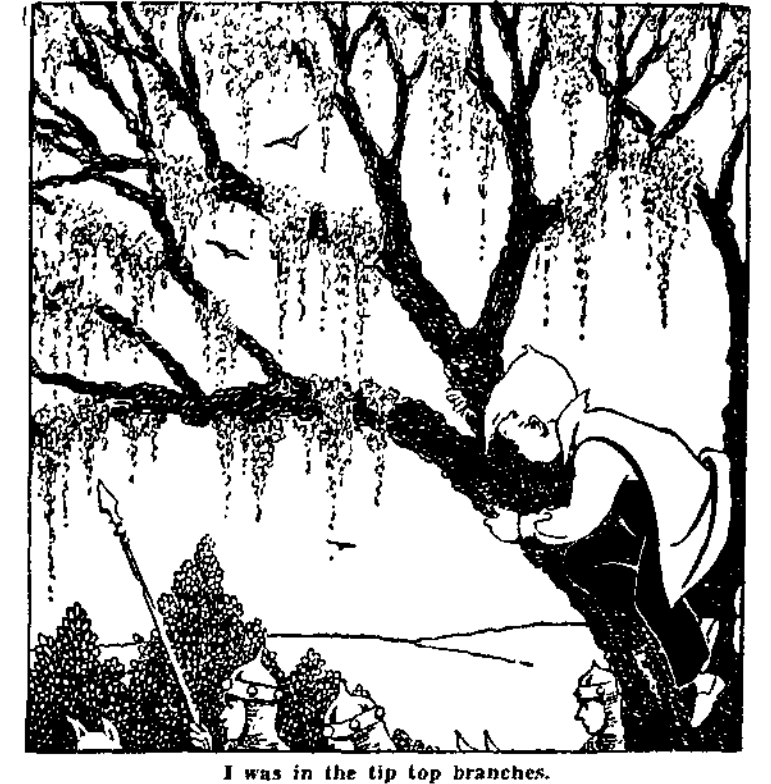

Their mouths dropped open and they stared at me. "Oh, do something!" I cried. "There's someone in the palace pretending to be king. He's trying to turn everyone into gold. Oh, what can we do to stop him?"

My sister Amanda dropped on her knees beside me. "Don't worry, Alexander. We'll make everything all right. Don't you worry at all!"

Oh, thank heavens! I thought. Now all will be well. But even as I thought it my heart dropped to my shoes for Amanda turned to Thomas and cried:

"Quickly, get a doctor! He's out of his head!"

HERSHEY RATES AMONG BEST IN S. P. CIRCUIT

(This is the fifth in a series of articles on prospects of South Penn Conference basketball teams written by members of the South Penn Sportswriters' Association.)

HERSHEY—Led by little Barry Daniels, Hershey High School should enjoy one of its most successful basketball campaigns in recent years under the tutelage of John Hanshue, second-year coach this winter.

The 5-7 Daniels, one of the top point-makers with a 17.8 norm last season, heads up a veteran aggregation that may make its presence felt during 1956-57 wars.

Hanshue has four other veterans to floor along with the speedy Daniels. John Fetterhoff, Lee Moyer, Barry Reilly and Carl Seavers return from year's better-than-average outfit.

Fetterhoff is the big man at 6-4. Moyer tapers off at 6-2 and Seavers is a youngster. Reilly stands about 5-10.

Rosy Future
Fetterhoff is a senior. The other varsity candidates are juniors, painting a rosy picture for the future, if not this year.

Graduation cost Hanshue a couple of standout performers, Pascal DiMaggio and Joe DiBlasio, but the abundance of experienced players on hand has Trojan fans more than hopeful.

Hershey High School has but one South Penn Conference cage championship to its credit (1940) and would like nothing better than to double that count by March.

The Trojans opened their season against Lebanon. They meet Palmyra, Milton Hershey and Alton before the start of conference firing.

The schedule:
December 11, Lebanon, home; 18, Palmyra, home; 21, Milton Hershey, away; 28, Alton, home.

January 2, Chambersburg, home; 4, Middletown, away; 11, Hanover, home; 15, Carlisle, away; 18, Mechanicsburg, home; 22, Gettysburg, away; 25, Shippensburg, home; 29, Waynesboro, away.

February 5, Chambersburg, away; 8, Middletown, home; 15, Hanover, away; 18, Carlisle, home; 22, Mechanicsburg, away; 26, Gettysburg, home.

March 1, Shippensburg, away; 5, Waynesboro, home.

Avoid Duplication
Wilson made no reference to any possibility that President Eisenhower's administration might ask Congress to amend U.S. laws to permit the shipment of atomic warheads to the NATO allies.

The defense secretary said that coordinated and integrated production of the latest type weapons in Europe would further the objective of equipping NATO with most modern arms, and would make better use of the vast pool of technical skills and resources that already exists in Western Europe.

He said the United States believes that NATO should avoid expensive, unnecessary, and uncoordinated duplication of arms production in Europe. He suggested, therefore, that the new program be a joint cooperative one in Western Europe, led by what he called those countries in the best position to proceed.

Wanted More Authority
The selection of Spaak as NATO's secretary general had been a certainty before the foreign, finance and defense ministers of the organization opened their meeting here this week. But the Belgian held back until his colleagues agreed to give him much more authority and prestige than was held by the primarily administrative post which the ministers agreed yesterday to give Spaak power to intervene as a mediator in such disputes between members as the British-Turkish-Greek conflict over Cyprus.

Spaak, 57, served as prime minister in 1938-39. He has headed

Scouts Donate To Aid Needy Families

Approximately $45 was contributed by Cuba Scouts and Explorers in the Conewago Boy Scout district to assist needy families in that area for the holiday season at their annual Christmas parties Thursday evening in the Hanover YWCA auditorium. About 350 persons attended.

The cub's opening and closing ceremonies were led by Howard Bream, cubmaster of Pack 125, New Oxford, while the scout and explorer ceremonies were led by James Keagy, assistant scoutmaster to Troop 105, St. Matthews Lutheran Church, Hanover.

Remarks were offered by Charles V. Bright, district field executive, and group singing of Christmas carols was led by Richard Shultz, accompanied by Elizabeth Shearer, accordionist. Shultz served as master of ceremonies.

Santa Claus attended both parties and Christmas movies were shown by E. J. J. Gobrecht. Refreshments were served.

DRIVER CHARGED

C. F. Palmer, 77, Littlestown R. 2, has been charged with reckless driving by Hanover police in an information filed yesterday before Justice of the Peace George A. Lippy, Hanover. The charge, police said, is an outgrowth of the accident Monday in Hanover in which Palmer's car and four other cars were damaged.

200 Personnel, Guests Of Littlestown Joint School System At Annual Dinner

GERMAN FOOD, TRADITIONS ARE EVENT'S THEME

Approximately 200 personnel and guests of the Littlestown Joint School System attended the annual Personnel dinner on Thursday evening in the all-purpose room of the Rolling Acres Elementary School, E. Myrtle St.

German food and traditions provided the theme for the affair. A menu of German food was served around "Rebhuhn Mit Reis Füllung" by the student waiters, and prepared by the cafeteria staffs. Prior to the meal, the waiters marched across the room singing a German Carol and the head waiter, Ronald Bowers, carried a Christmas tree with lighted candles which was placed on the speaker's table. Grace was sung by those assembled.

Guest speaker for the occasion was H. Vernon Ferster, Hanover, a former school teacher and now vice president of the Hanover borough school board. His message concerned Pennsylvania Dutch, the people, their dialect, their so-called peculiarities, with a large smattering of true and fictitious Pennsylvania Dutch stories. Mr. Ferster displayed several very old birth certificates in Dutch and closed his remarks with the Pennsylvania

Dutch alphabet, which he also translated.

Little German Band Plays
Lloyd L. Stavelly, administrative assistant at the Littlestown Junior-Senior High School, was master of ceremonies. The program opened with the flag salute, led by Charles E. Tressler, president of the Adams County PSEA; cornet solo by Hugh Roberts, as the curtains parted revealing Old Glory proudly waving; group singing of carols, led by Mrs. Elmira S. Deardorff, jointure instructor of vocal music, accompanied by Mrs. Mary N. Register, also vocal music instructor.

A Little German Band, in costume, composed of Kenneth Koonitz, Jane Barton, Larry Huff, Brenda Worley and Hugh Roberts, played under a street lamp serenading a German maiden, Heidi Nickey, also in costume, who appeared at the door of her home, joined in with a song and then rewarded them with refreshments.

Paul E. King, supervising principal of the Jointure, spoke briefly stating that the annual personnel dinner and program is a "thank-you to all concerned" for services rendered for which there is no remuneration. Mr. King introduced H. Edgar Riegle, county superintendent of schools; C. P. Keefe, assistant superintendent; and Wilbur E. Mackley, president of the Joint School Boards, and each responded with appropriate remarks.

Manger Scene At Close
The program concluded with a manger scene; Barbara Crouse

In a letter to Pennsylvania physicians, Dr. Mattison wrote: "I recommend that representatives of the medical society, osteopathic society, voluntary agencies and citizens groups should meet and develop a program that will meet the local needs of that county or parts of counties with the goal of providing full immunization against polio to all children before the next summer."

GERMAN FOOD, TRADITIONS ARE EVENT'S THEME

Approximately 200 personnel and guests of the Littlestown Joint School System attended the annual Personnel dinner on Thursday evening, held in the all-purpose room of the Rolling Acres Elementary School, E. Myrtle St.

German food and traditions provided the theme for the affair. A menu of German food was served around "Rebhuhn Mit Reis Füllung" by the student waiters, and prepared by the cafeteria staffs. Prior to the meal, the waiters marched across the room singing a German Carol and the head waiter, Ronald Bowers, carried a Christmas tree with lighted candles which was placed on the speaker's table. Grace was sung by those assembled.

Guest speaker for the occasion was H. Vernon Ferster, Hanover, a former school teacher and now vice president of the Hanover borough school board. His message concerned Pennsylvania Dutch, the people, their dialect, their so-called peculiarities, with a large smattering of true and fictitious Pennsylvania Dutch stories. Mr. Ferster displayed several very old birth certificates in Dutch and closed his remarks with the Pennsylvania

Dutch alphabet, which he also translated.

Little German Band Plays

Lloyd L. Stavelly, administrative assistant at the Littlestown Junior-Senior High School, was master of ceremonies. The program opened with the flag salute, led by Charles E. Tressler, president of the Adams County PSEA; cornet solo by Hugh Roberts, as the curtains parted revealing Old Glory proudly waving; group singing of carols, led by Mrs. Elmina S. Deardorff, jointure instructor of vocal music, accompanied by Mrs. Mary N. Register, also vocal music instructor.

A Little German Band, in costume, composed of Kenneth Koonitz, Jane Barton, Larry Huff, Brenda Worley and Hugh Roberts, played under a street lamp serenading a German maiden, Heidi Nickey, also in costume, who appeared at the door of her home, joined in with a song and then rewarded them with refreshments.

Paul E. King, supervising principal of the Jointure, spoke briefly stating that the annual personnel dinner and program is a "thank-you to all concerned" for services rendered for which there is no remuneration. Mr. King introduced H. Edgar Riegle, county superintendent of schools; C. P. Keefer, assistant superintendent; and Wilbur E. Mackley, president of the Joint School Boards, and each responded with appropriate remarks.

Manger Scene At Close

The program concluded with a manger scene: Barbara Crouse

Missionary Society Selects Officers

Officers of the Alta Hummer Missionary Society of St. John's Lutheran Church were re-elected for 1957 at the December meeting of the Society held on Wednesday evening at the home of Mrs. Paul E. King, near town. The officers are: President, Mrs. William C. Karns; vice president, Mrs. James L. Rhoades; recording secretary, Mrs. Lloyd L. Stavelly; treasurer, Mrs. Dale W. A group hymn opened the meeting, followed with Scripture and prayer by Mrs. Henry Barnes, leader for the evening, and another hymn. Miss Joyce Barnes discussed the topic "Everywhere—Christmas Tonight." Reports were heard from Mrs. Stavelly and Mrs. Slarry. The president appointed Mrs. Harry O. Harner, Mrs. Alvin J. TAX REDUCTION ON CIGARS MAY AID COMPETITION FORM DIVISION FOR ADVICE ON SCHOOL PLANS

HARRISBURG (AP) — The State Council of Farm Organizations looked today toward a reduction of federal excise taxes on cigars made entirely from "natural leaf tobacco" to offset what it said was unfair competition of firms using "synthetic tobacco."

The council said last night that large cigar manufacturing firms in Pennsylvania are "running" small manufacturers out of business by selling cigars made with synthetic tobacco.

The statement was made by the annual meeting of the council in Harrisburg at which William L. Henning, state agriculture secretary, outlined his legislative program for the 1957 General Assembly.

Henning said there is an "urgent need for new general food and pesticide laws to cope with the many new products on the market."

He said his department would also seek continued financial aid for soil surveys, soil conservation and farm food marketing activities.

The council adopted a resolution calling for legislative action to make permanent a full return of the six-cents-a-gallon state tax on gasoline used on farms in the production of food. The full rebate is due to expire June 30.

In other action, Joseph W. Hall, president of the council, re-elected Emerson Works, Uniontown, vice president; and the following committee:

HARRISBURG (AP) — Local educators now can call on a special division of the Public Instruction Department for advice and assistance in planning school buildings. The Division of School Development Consultants was established yesterday and will place a staff of regional consultants at the disposal of local authorities to provide assistance in school construction.

The consultants will work part time under the direction of Dr. James S. Tresslar of the department. They will be available several days each month to aid in examination of building needs and development of long range building programs.

The consultants already named were:

Dr. Harry N. Gasser, Norris-town; M. Vincent Willis, Greensburg; Dr. Gerald Bosch, Pennsylvania State University; Dr. Ross Neagle, Temple University; Dr. Edward Smith, Doylestown; Joseph Neidig, Quakertown; Dr. John Linton, Pittsburgh; Dr. Maurice Stratton, Berwyn; Dr. Franklin Miller, Penn State; Dr. Edward C. Cruttenberg, Harrisburg; Dr. Alfred Beattie, Pittsburgh; Dr. Charles Blair, Pittsburgh; Dr. Glenn Clark, Pittsburgh.

men: George Slocum, Milton; Ralph G. Culver, Laceyville; Albert E. Madigan, Towanda; N. E. Sampson, Volant; and Walter Shearer, Sinking Spring.

The Sigma Chi Fraternity's Christmas decorations represented four scenes from the children's story, "The Littlest Angel." Five feet high, blonde, blue-gowned angels were perched on white clouds surrounding the fraternity house on Carlisle St. The four episodes portrayed the "Littlest Angel" being chosen to enter the pearly gate, singing with the celestial choir, weighing his gift for God and appearing before God.

BUTLER WON'T CHART PARTY'S COURSE ON HILL

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Democrats' top leaders in the Senate and House have made it plain the party's legislative policies will be charted on Capitol Hill, not by an advisory committee named by Democratic National Chairman Paul M. Butler.

Senate Democratic Leader Lyndon B. Johnson of Texas yesterday joined Speaker of the House Sam Rayburn of Texas in declining to serve on Butler's committee.

Already Difficult
 "Legislative processes are already very difficult," Johnson wrote Butler. "And the necessity of dealing with an additional committee not created by federal law before taking action would only cause delays and confusion."

Johnson softened his rejection with an expression of willingness "to be informed as to the views of the newly created committee or to hear from you as its representative at any time." Rayburn, in his earlier turn-down of Butler's invitation, had indicated with the advisory group.

So far eight Democratic figures have agreed to serve on the 20-member group which Butler established to "coordinate and advance efforts in behalf of Democratic programs and principles."

Decline To Serve
 Among those who have accepted are Adlai E. Stevenson, the party's unsuccessful presidential candidate in 1952 and 1956; his 1956 running mate, Sen. Estes Kefauver of Tennessee; and former President Truman. Only three Congress members, including Kefauver, have sent in acceptances.

Johnson said he had talked over with "a substantial majority" of the Senate Democratic policy committee the question of joining Butler's group. Johnson then told Butler that:

"Without exception, all feel the Senate Democratic leadership should respectfully decline your invitation to serve."

Nehru Flying For Visit With Eisenhower

NEW DELHI, India (AP)—Prime Minister Nehru flew toward the United States today for talks with President Eisenhower and other high U. S. officials.

President Rajendra Prasad was among those seeing Nehru's party off. The Prime Minister is expected to begin his talks with Eisenhower in Washington Sunday. The whole trip will take about 12 days. Those accompanying Nehru included his daughter, Mrs. Indira Gandhi. He is flying in an Indian airliner to London. There, Eisenhower's plane, the Columbine, will pick him up for the flight to Washington.

Nehru planned to spend four or five hours in the British capital tomorrow. He might see Prime Minister Eden, returning today from a vacation in Jamaica.

TAX REDUCTION FORM DIVISION ON CIGARS MAY FOR ADVICE ON AID COMPETITION SCHOOL PLANS

HARRISBURG (AP)—The State Council of Farm Organizations looked today toward a reduction of federal excise taxes on cigars made entirely from "natural leaf tobacco" to offset what it said was unfair competition of firms using "synthetic tobacco."

The council said last night that large cigar manufacturing firms in Pennsylvania are "running" small manufacturers out of business by selling cigars made with synthetic tobacco.

The statement was made by the annual meeting of the council in Harrisburg at which William L. Henning, state agriculture secretary, outlined his legislative program for the 1957 General Assembly.

Henning said there is an "urgent need for new general food and pesticide laws to cope with the many new products on the market."

He said his department would also seek continued financial aid for soil surveys, soil conservation and farm food marketing activities.

The council adopted a resolution calling for legislative action to make permanent a full return of the six-cent-a-gallon state tax on gasoline used on farms in the production of food. The full rebate is due to expire June 30.

In other action, Joseph W. Hall, Jr., Irvland, was re-elected president of the council.

Others re-elected were: Emerson Work, Uniontown, vice president; and the following committee:

HARRISBURG (AP)—Local educators now can call on a special division of the Public Instruction Department for advice and assistance in planning school buildings. The Division of School Development Consultants was established yesterday and will place a staff of regional consultants at the disposal of local authorities to provide assistance in school construction.

The consultants will work part time under the direction of Dr. James S. Tresslar of the department.

They will be available several days each month to aid in examination of building needs and development of long range building programs.

The consultants already named were:

Dr. Harry N. Gasser, Norris-town; M. Vincent Willis, Greensburg; Dr. Gerald Bosch, Pennsylvania State University; Dr. Ross Neagley, Temple University; Dr. Edward Smith, Doylestown; Joseph Neidig, Quakertown; Dr. John Linton, Pottsville; Dr. Maurice Stratton, Berwyn; Dr. Franklin Miller, Penn State; Dr. Edward C. Cruttenberg, Harrisburg; Dr. Alfred Beattie, Pottsville; Dr. Charles Blair, Pottsville; Dr. Glenn Clark, Pottsville.

men: George Slocum, Milton; Ralph G. Culver, Laceyville; Albert E. Madigan, Towanda; N. E. Sampson, Volant; and Walter Shearer, Sinking Spring.

The Sigma Chi Fraternity's Christmas decorations represented four scenes from the children's story, "The Littlest Angel." Five feet high, blonde, blue-gowned angels were perched on white clouds surrounding the fraternity house on Carlisle St. The four episodes portrayed the "Littlest Angel" being chosen to enter the pearly gate, singing with the celestial choir, weighing his gift for God and appearing before God.

Paasikivi had a long political career going back to pre-World War I days when Finland was still a part of Russia. When the Bolsheviks granted Finland independence, he served as the first premier.

NEGRO MAY BE NAMED CARDINAL BY POPE PIUS

By FRANK BRUTTO
VATICAN CITY (AP) — The first Negro to wear a cardinal's red hat may well emerge from the next consistory to create princes of the Roman Catholic Church. And the consistory, whenever it is held, also could see an increase in the number of U.S. cardinals, now four. Should Pope Pius XII select a Negro, it would conform with his expressed desire to keep the church's high senate body as representative as possible. During the past 10 years the church's membership in Africa, known in missionary circles as Catholicism's "Black Flower," has increased from 12 million to more than 20 million — outstripping the rate of worldwide growth. The church's membership today totals 472 millions. Negro Is Considered Vatican circles believe that prelates under consideration for cardinals could well include Negro

Archbishop Joseph Kiwanuka of Masaka, Uganda. He is 59 years old, relatively young to be a candidate for the exalted rank. In addition to recognizing Catholicism's growth in Africa, his choice also would contain a slight sentimental note. Pope Pius XII, in one of his first acts, consecrated the Negro bishop in 1939 in St. Peter's Basilica. An increase in the number of American cardinals also would recognize the growth of the church in the United States. Membership there has increased from 22,556,242 in 1942 to 33,574,000 today. Consider Americans Vatican sources say the number of U.S. cardinals, if it is increased, probably would not be increased by more than one or two unless the Pope also raised the total number of cardinals beyond the present 70. He once thought of doing this. Among the Americans frequently mentioned as possible candidates are Archbishop Richard J. Cushing of Boston, Francis Keough of Baltimore, John Joseph Mitty of San Francisco and, more recently, Bishop Fulton J. Sheen, auxiliary bishop of New York. Italians, who now hold 21 seats in the college, are expected to continue to be the largest single bloc. There now are 10 vacancies in the college. Those places last were held by five Italians and a Peruvian, a Dutchman, an Austrian, a Briton and a Frenchman.

COLORFUL NEW POP-UP toasters now come in lemon yellow, frosting, pink, mint aqua and sugar white porcelain on steel. Above is a Westinghouse.

Some Are Working
Some chimneys were smoking and several factory railways were in operation. "The people who went back to work love money," grumbled a worker outside the gate. He referred to a Budapest radio warning that only those would receive wages who actually worked. "But we estimate that only 20 per cent are still working," another added. "The others won't resume until Racz and Bari are released."

Except for the work stoppages Budapest appeared quiet up to noon with streetcar and bus service almost back to normal. Newsmen touring the capital's industrial 11th District noted many workers standing around factory yards while others pushed handcarts as slowly as possible. Shortage Of Coal Workers explained that another factor hampering production was shortage of coal and electric power. The electricity was shut off this morning in many hotels in downtown Budapest.

Kadar's government broadcast a threat to dismiss thousands of workers if coal miners who have stayed away from the pits since the outbreak of the October revolution did not return to work. Budapest radio said in view of the increasing danger of an inflation, the government can no longer bear the responsibility of paying idle factory workers. "The regime promised a special 'loyalty bonus' and 'government credits for the building of homes' to miners who returned by Dec. 15. Kadar's government announced today that any persons caught taking part in an unauthorized public demonstration or meeting would face imprisonment of from six months to five years. Radio Budapest said the police must be notified three days in advance of any public meeting or parades. The police were authorized to prohibit any meeting or demonstration that they considered endangered peace or order.

New Target Towing Apparatus Is Made

HAWTHORNE, Calif. (AP)—Northrop Aircraft reports it has developed a new target towing apparatus which allows jet aircraft to fire at targets without endangering the tow plane or its crew. Northrop said the device, known as the "Bee-Jay," employs a cable reel that can be attached to the wings of most Air Force operational aircraft. As much as five miles of cable can be used in a towing operation.

At the end of the cable is a large plastic target which spins rapidly in flight. The target is fitted with a 10-inch aluminum radar reflector that serves as a "homeing" base for the "attacking" aircraft. Northrop said the entire apparatus can be jettisoned and weighs only 290 pounds. The original design for the tow target was furnished by three Air Force officers at Vincent Air Force Base, Ariz.

LITTLE NEGRO GIRL WILL GET SECOND CHANCE

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—A little girl whose Cinderella dream became a nightmare is going to have another chance to perform for her idol.

Yesterday started out better than any dream for Harriet Thalf, an 11-year-old Negro founding. At last she was to meet and sing for the famed Negro contralto, Marian Anderson.

Miss Anderson returned to her native Philadelphia for a luncheon introducing her autobiography "My Lord, What a Morning." Part of the ceremony was to be the little girl's performance and a meeting with Miss Anderson, who was born and reared in the same neighborhood.

Harriet was overwhelmed by the meeting. She presented Miss Anderson a bouquet and, impulsively, reached up and embraced her idol.

Voice Breaks, Tears
They chatted and the girl became more at ease.

Then it was time to perform and Harriet showed nervousness again. Her childish voice trembled as she sang "O Holy Night." Part way through her second selection, "I Baccio," Harriet paused for a moment, coughed and froze before the eyes of hundreds of adults and for her—worst of all—before Miss Anderson.

The girl collapsed in tears. The guests sat mute. Miss Anderson broke the pained silence, went to Harriet and took the girl in her arms. She told Harriet she would hear her sing again, in more familiar, less terrifying surroundings.

MAY SEEK NEW MEETING WITH ROADS BUREAU

BRADFORD, Pa. (AP)—The head of a group fighting to keep Route 6 in the federal interstate highway system said today a new meeting may be sought with the U. S. Bureau of Roads in Washington. Harry G. Garvin, chairman of the Save Route 6 Committee, said in a statement that a final decision on requesting a meeting will be made this week.

The state administration wants to place Route 6 in the "primary road" status and build a new multi-lane "shortway" across the center of Pennsylvania.

The new highway is proposed as part of the "interstate" system under the federal roads program. Northern Tier Route 6 follows the northern tier of Pennsylvania from the east to the Ohio State line.

As part of the interstate system it could be improved and possibly relocated under a $3 billion federal allocation program to be carried on in the next 13 years. If classed as a primary road, improvement costs would have to come from another fund in which the state and federal government share costs on a 50-50 basis. The federal government pays 90 per cent of the costs on interstate highways. The Save Route 6 Committee is composed of heads of motor clubs, chambers of commerce and other representatives of communities along Route 6.

Garvin said the committee has dropped efforts to meet with Gov. Leader to plea its case and will devote future efforts to trying to secure backing from Pennsylvania representatives to Congress. The committee would like to show the U. S. Bureau of Roads a petition signed by 10,000 northern Pennsylvania residents who oppose the "shortway." The Federal Roads Bureau already is studying a brief presented by the committee and is expected to rule either this month or next on whether the proposed new road would meet interstate specifications.

Garvin said the Save Route 6 Committee argues that the present highway meets all requirements of an interstate highway and is vital to area efforts to stimulate industrial growth.

Christmas In Japan Is A Mingling Of Many Foreign Customs Of Western World

Japan has no startlingly different way of celebrating Christmas. Christmas in Japan is a mingling of many foreign customs of the western world and has been greatly influenced by Americans since the end of the second World War.

Yoko Ishikawa, of Tokyo, a freshman at Gettysburg College, told a reporter for The Gettysburg Times: "I don't think there is much difference between the Japanese Christmas and the American Christmas since only the Christian people celebrate it. Shintoinism is the national religion of Japan and the majority of people adhere to those beliefs."

Not coming from a Christian family, Yoko, who attended the Tokyo for two years, has been invited to many Christian celebrations of Christmas in Japan and has participated in many church celebrations during the Christmas season. She has been a member of the Youth Forum of the church which usually gathers for carol singing on Christmas. The group sings both American and English carols and many of these are sung in Japanese. Of course, special church services are held on Christmas Day.

Jap Version Of Santa
The Children of Japan probably first became associated with the cradle in the story of the Child Jesus. The story of the Child Jesus born in a manger is fascinating to little girls, since they love anything to do with babies.

A god or priest known as

"Hoteisoho" is the Japanese version of Santa Claus. He is always pictured as a kind old man carrying a huge sack and he is believed to have eyes in the back of his head.

In her own words Yoko described Christmas in her country. "In Japan when the month of December comes, signs for the approach of the Christmas season become just as much evident as those of the year-end season. During the season the things for the New Year and Santa Claus, Christmas trees and gifts are appropriate signs in Japan. The Christmas celebration has become an indispensable part of the year-end celebration whereas some thirty years ago it was practically unknown to the public except in the Christian communities."

Some Give Gifts
"There is a custom in Japan of giving gifts to intimate friends as a mark of year-end greeting, and young people practice it in the name of Christmas presents. But the Christmas season has little religious connection for most of the Japanese except the Christian people."

"Japanese children also like to see Santa Claus and Christmas trees and like to receive presents. Newspapers at this time give various accounts of Christmas events such as stories for children and recipes for Christmas dishes. These tendencies have come to be more popular since the end of the last war. Streets and stores are decorated with Christmas trees and

Santa Claus and are filled with shoppers.

"While this is a general view of Christmas, Christian people celebrate the Christmas Day at church and in their homes. Church members, nearly always the younger members, give caroling programs or a candle service. Some of them give special help spiritually, and materially to the unhappy people."

New Year's Day
"New Year's Day is by far the most important day on the Japanese calendar. The houses are cleaned thoroughly from top to bottom in advance of the celebration and are decorated for the new year."

Miss Ishikawa described the typical New Year celebration at her home in Tokyo where her parents, two younger brothers and younger sister still reside.

"This is a holiday that is universally celebrated. By New Year's eve the entire house must be cleaned and there can be no housecleaning during the first three days of the 12-day celebration for it is feared that some of the good luck that has entered may be swept out."

"Business men work to clear all outstanding accounts and housewives and servants busy themselves preparing the New Year's dishes such as 'mochi' (rice cake), 'o-toso,' special sweet sake (pronounced sah-kev) and all kinds of food to last for the first several days of January."

"The alcove in the guest room is decorated with pictures suitable for the New Year's season. In front of the pictures is placed a set of two round layers of rice cake on white 'sanbo,' a square tray with a set of New Year decorations."

Gates Are Decorated
"On both sides of the front gate of the house are decorations made of pine, bamboo and rice-straw ropes. Of all evergreen trees, the pine is said to be the most enduring, retaining its deep green under all weather conditions. It denotes health and strength and is regarded as the symbol of longevity. The bamboo grows straight and fast and is regarded as a symbol of uprightness and rapid growth."

"At the entrance hangs what we call 'shimekazari,' a sacred rope made of straw, decorated with a kind of orange called 'dairi,' meaning from generation to generation, while the fern leaves suggest expanding prosperity. Sometimes an artificial lobster whose back signifies old age and longevity is added to the decor."

"On the last day of December many Japanese eat 'sobu,' noodle soup, to bring the old year to a happy conclusion."

"New Year's morning is psychologically the beginning of a new life to the Japanese. It is just as joyful as Christmas morning in many other lands. The spirit of the New Year observance in Japan begins with various shrine and temple festivals."

New Year Delicacies
"All New Year delicacies are associated with some pleasant ideas and thoughts. The 'mochi' and 'o-toso' are as indispensable for the New Year celebration as turkey and cranberry sauce are for the American Thanksgiving celebration."

"O-toso is served before the breakfast on New Year's Day as a token of celebrating a New Year with good health and happiness. O-toso is a sweet rice wine flavored with spices. It is believed that the beverage has a power to destroy evil spirits and invigorate human vitality. Mochi, a stew with various vegetables such as radish, carrot, sea-weed and chicken meat, is served. These vegetables also have meaning. Radish has its root firmly in the soil, meaning a firm family foundation. Besides these, other New Year dishes include fish, egg, vegetables, rice cakes, sweet potatoes mixed with nuts and tea."

"Girls play battledore or badminton. The more expensive battledores are highly artistic affairs with colorful embroidered figures of famous persons. The boys fly kites. New 255-hp Safety-Surge V-8 with Power-Booster Fan

This great new engine features a revolutionary Mercury "first" in the Montclair Series. The engine fan coasts when not needed for cooling. You save horsepower other cars waste. Engine sound is reduced, you enjoy a far quieter ride.

New 255-hp Safety-Surge V-8

Dream-car performance in the Monterey Series. Mercury's lowest priced line! Features another Mercury "first" which you get at no extra cost on all six engines for '57—a Thermo-matic Carburetor. It automatically controls the temperature of the air the engine breathes—helps keep it uniform summer and winter. Engine starting is easier, usable power and economy are increased.

YEAR'S MOST IMPORTANT RIDE IMPROVEMENTS

Exclusive Full-Cushion Shock Absorbers—The first shock absorbers in the industry to give such amazing bump-smothering control on rough roads without sacrificing a soft, satin-smooth ride on average roads. They are teamed with Mercury's new improved springing action. Special high-speed valves built into the shock absorbers act as hydraulic cushions when there are rapid changes between bumps and ruts. Any bounce or rebound is controlled as if by a giant hand.

New Swept-Back Ball-Joint Front Suspension—Mercury introduces a new improved version of its famous suspension system—the finest, most advanced ball-joint front suspension on the market today. Because of the new swept-back design, the front wheels are now, in effect, pulled gently over bumps, rather than pushed into them. The benefits: easier handling, more responsive steering.

New balanced weight distribution greatly reduces nose dipping on sudden stops and lurching on fast starts. Mercury's extra weight, length, width, and wheelbase also add greatly to stability.

New road-hugging center of gravity—Everything is lower. Car height, passenger compartment, frame, and rear axle. You enjoy an amazing sense of "nailed-down" stability on curves.

You've got to feel Mercury's Floating Ride to believe it. We invite you to do just that, today, at our showroom.

Christmas In Japan Is A Mingling Of Many Foreign Customs Of Western World

Japan has no startlingly different way of celebrating Christmas. Christmas in Japan is a mingling of many foreign customs of the western world and has been greatly influenced by Americans since the end of the second World War.

Yoko Ishikawa, of Tokyo, a freshman at Gettysburg College, told a reporter for The Gettysburg Times: "I don't think there is much difference between the Japanese Christmas and the American Christmas since only the Christian people celebrate it. Shintoism is the national religion of Japan and the majority of people adhere to those beliefs."

Not coming from a Christian family, Yoko, who attended the Tokyo for two years, has been invited to many Christmas celebrations of Christmas in Japan and has participated in many church celebrations during the Christmas season. She has been a member of the Youth Forum of the church which usually gathers for carol singing on Christmas. The group sings both American and English carols and many of these are sung in Japanese. Of course, special church services are held on Christmas Day.

Jap Version Of Santa

The Children of Japan probably first became associated with the cradle in the story of the Child Jesus. The story of the Child Jesus born in a manger is fascinating to little girls, since they love anything to do with babies.

"Hoteisoho" is the Japanese version of Santa Claus. He is always pictured as a kind old man carrying a huge sack and he is believed to have eyes in the back of his head.

In her own words Yoko described Christmas in her country. "In Japan when the month of December comes, signs for the approach of the Christmas season become just as much evident as those of the year-end season. During the season the things for the New Year and Santa Claus, Christmas trees and gifts are appropriate signs in Japan. The Christmas celebration has become an indispensable part of the year-end celebration whereas some thirty years ago it was practically unknown to the public except in the Christian communities."

Some Give Gifts

"There is a custom in Japan of giving gifts to intimate friends as a mark of year-end greeting, and young people practice it in the name of Christmas presents."

"But the Christmas season has little religious connection for most of the Japanese except the Christian people."

"Japanese children also like to see Santa Claus and Christmas trees and like to receive presents. Newspapers at this time give various accounts of Christmas events such as stories for children and recipes for Christmas dishes. These tendencies have come to be more popular since the end of the last war. Streets and stores are decorated with Christmas trees and

Santa Claus and are filled with shoppers.

"While this is a general view of Christmas, Christian people celebrate the Christmas Day at church and in their homes. Church members, nearly always the younger members, give caroling programs or a candle service. Some of them give special help spiritually, and materially to the unhappy people."

New Year's Day

"New Year's Day is by far the most important day on the Japanese calendar. The houses are cleaned thoroughly from top to bottom in advance of the celebration and are decorated for the new year."

Miss Ishikawa described the typical New Year celebration at her home in Tokyo where her parents, two younger brothers and younger sister still reside.

"This is a holiday that is universally celebrated. By New Year's eve the entire house must be cleaned and there can be no housecleaning during the first three days of the 12-day celebration for it is feared that some of the good luck that has entered may be swept out."

"Business men work to clear all outstanding accounts and housewives and servants busy themselves preparing the New Year's dishes such as 'mochi' (rice cake), 'o-toso,' special sweet sake (pronounced sah-key) and all kinds of food to last for the first several days of January."

"The alcove in the guest room is decorated with pictures suitable for the New Year's season. In front of the pictures is placed a set of two round layers of rice cake on white 'sanbo,' a square tray with a set of New Year decorations."

Gates Are Decorated

"On both sides of the front gate of the house are decorations made of pine, bamboo and rice-straw

ropes. Of all evergreen trees, the pine is said to be the most enduring, retaining its deep green under all weather conditions. It denotes health and strength and is regarded as the symbol of longevity. The bamboo grows straight and fast and is regarded as a symbol of uprightness and rapid growth."

"At the entrance hangs what we call 'shimekazari,' a sacred rope made of straw, decorated with a kind of orange called 'daidai,' meaning from generation to generation, while the fern leaves suggest expanding prosperity. Sometimes an artificial lobster whose back signifies old age and longevity is added to the decor."

"On the last day of December many Japanese eat 'soba,' noodle soup, to bring the old year to a happy conclusion."

"New Year's morning is psychologically the beginning of a new life to the Japanese. It is just as joyful as Christmas morning in many other lands. The spirit of the New Year observance in Japan begins with various shrine and temple festivals."

New Year Delicacies

"All New Year delicacies are associated with some pleasant ideas and thoughts. The 'mochi' and 'o-toso' are as indispensable for the New Year celebration as turkey and cranberry sauce are for the American Thanksgiving celebration."

"O-toso is served before the breakfast on New Year's Day as a token of celebrating a New Year with good health and happiness. O-toso is a sweet rice wine flavored with spices. It is believed that the beverage has a power to destroy evil spirits and invigorate human vitality. Mochi, a stew with various vegetables such as radish, carrot, sea-weed and chicken meat, is served. These vegetables also have meaning. Radish has its root firmly in the soil, meaning a firm family foundation. Besides these, other New Year dishes include fish, egg, vegetables, rice cakes, sweet potatoes mixed with nuts and tea."

"Girls play battledore or badminton. The more expensive battledores are highly artistic affairs with colorful embroidered figures of famous persons. The boys fly kites. These pastimes are often joined by the parents. The first three days of the New Year are spent in the spirit of general rejoicing."

Special Costumes

"The costume for the day is very special, too. The girls dress in the Japanese kimono, an innovation since the girls for everyday wear use westernized dress. The boys wear no special dress for the holiday."

"Another specialty of the day is that money is asked of all residents of the district for the shrine of that particular district."

Miss Ishikawa, who is an English student at Gettysburg College, learned of Gettysburg from a Lutheran missionary whom she met in Tokyo, Miss Esther Durbin, 321 Springs Ave. She arrived at Portland, Ore., last July and has visited Chicago, the region around Lake Erie in New York and Washington, D. C. She loves the friendly atmosphere of college and wants to see much more of America before she returns home to Tokyo next summer. She plans to continue her studies again in Japan and would like to teach English in her country."

NEGRO MAY BE NAMED CARDINAL BY POPE PIUS

By FRANK BRUTTO

VATICAN CITY (AP)—The first Negro to wear a cardinal's red hat may well emerge from the next consistory to create princes of the Roman Catholic Church. And the consistory, whenever it is held also could see an increase in the number of U.S. cardinals, now four.

Should Pope Pius XII select a Negro, it would conform with his expressed desire to keep the church's high senate body as representative as possible.

During the past 10 years the church's membership in Africa, known in missionary circles as Catholicism's "Black Flower," has increased from 12 million to more than 20 million—outstripping the rate of worldwide growth. The church's membership today totals 472 millions.

Negro is considered Vatican circles believe that prelates under consideration for cardinals could well include Negro

Archbishop Joseph Kiwanuka of Masaka, Uganda. He is 59 years old, relatively young to be a candidate for the exalted rank.

In addition to recognizing Catholicism's growth in Africa his choice also would contain a slightly sentimental note. Pope Pius XII, in one of his first acts, consecrated the Negro bishop in 1939 in St. Peter's Basilica.

An increase in the number of American cardinals also would recognize the growth of the church in the United States. Membership there has increased from 22,556,242 in 1942 to 33,574,000 today.

Consider Americans

Vatican sources say the number of U.S. cardinals, if it is increased, probably would not be increased by more than one or two unless the Pope also raised the total number of cardinals beyond the present 70. He once thought of doing this.

Among the Americans frequently mentioned as possible candidates are Archbishop Richard J. Cushing of Boston, Francis Keough of Baltimore, John Joseph Mitty of San Francisco and, more recently, Bishop Fulton J. Sheen, auxiliary bishop of New York.

Italians, who now hold 21 seats in the college, are expected to continue to be the largest single bloc. There now are 10 vacancies in the college. Those places last were held by five Italians and a Peruvian, a Dutchman, an Austrian, a Briton and a Frenchman.

NEW TARGET TOWING Apparatus Is Made

HAWTHORNE, Calif. (AP)—Northrop Aircraft reports it has developed a new target towing apparatus which allows jet aircraft to fire at targets without endangering the tow plane or its crew.

Northrop said the device, known as the "Bee-Jay," employs a cable reel that can be attached to the wings of most Air Force operational aircraft. As much as five miles of cable can be used in a towing operation.

At the end of the cable is a large plastic target which spins rapidly in flight. The target is fitted with a 10-inch aluminum radar reflector that serves as a "homing" base for the "attacking" aircraft.

Northrop said the entire apparatus can be jettisoned and weighs only 290 pounds. The original design for the tow target was furnished by three Air Force officers at Vincent Air Force Base, Ariz.

MAY SEEK NEW MEETING WITH ROADS BUREAU

BRADFORD, Pa. (AP)—The head of a group fighting to keep Route 6 in the federal interstate highway system said today a new meeting may be sought with the U. S. Bureau of Roads in Washington.

Harry G. Garvin, chairman of the Save Route 6 Committee, said in a statement that a final decision on requesting a meeting will be made this week.

The state administration wants to place Route 6 in the "primary road" status and build a new multi-lane "shortway" across the center of Pennsylvania.

The new highway is proposed as part of the "interstate" system under the federal roads program.

Northern Tier

Route 6 follows the northern tier of Pennsylvania from the east to the Ohio State line.

As part of the interstate system it could be improved and possibly relocated under a $3 billion dollar federal allocation program to be carried on in the next 13 years. If classed as a primary road, improvement costs would have to come from another fund in which the state and federal government share costs on a 50-50 basis.

The federal government pays 90 per cent of the costs on interstate highways.

The Save Route 6 Committee is composed of heads of motor clubs, chambers of commerce and other representatives of communities along Route 6.

Garvin said the committee has dropped efforts to meet with Gov. Leader to plea its case and will devote future efforts to trying to secure backing from Pennsylvania representatives to Congress.

The committee would like to show the U. S. Bureau of Roads a petition signed by 10,000 northern Pennsylvania residents who oppose the "shortway."

The Federal Roads Bureau already is studying a brief presented by the committee and is expected to rule either this month or next on whether the proposed new road would meet interstate specification.

Garvin said the Save Route 6 Committee argues that the present highway meets all requirements of an interstate highway and is vital to area efforts to stimulate industrial growth.

Some Are Working

Some chimneys were smoking and several factory railways were in operation.

"The people who went back to work love money," grumbled a worker outside the gate. He referred to a Budapest radio warning that only those would receive wages who actually worked.

"But we estimate that only 20 per cent are still working," another added. "The others won't resume until Racz and Bari are released."

Except for the work stoppages Budapest appeared quiet up to noon with streetcar and bus service almost back to normal.

Newsman touring the capital's Industrial 11th District noted many workers standing around factory yards while others pushed handcarts as slowly as possible.

Shortage Of Coal

Workers explained that another factor hampering production was shortage of coal and electric power. The electricity was shut off this morning in many hotels in downtown Budapest.

Kadar's government broadcast a threat to dismiss thousands of workers if coal miners who have stayed away from the pits since the outbreak of the October revolution did not return to work. Budapest radio said in view of the increasing danger of an inflation, the government can no longer bear the responsibility of paying idle factory workers.

The regime promised a special "loyalty bonus" and "government credits for the building of homes" to miners who returned by Dec. 15.

Kadar's government announced today that any persons caught taking part in an unauthorized public demonstration or meeting would face imprisonment of from six months to five years.

Radio Budapest said the police must be notified three days in advance of any public meeting or parades. The police were authorized to prohibit any meeting or demonstration that they considered endangered peace or order.

LITTLE NEGRO GIRL WILL GET SECOND CHANCE

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—A little girl whose Cinderella dream became a nightmare is going to have another chance to perform for her idol.

Yesterday started out better than any dream for Harriet Thalf, an 11-year-old Negro foundingling. At last she was to meet and sing for the famed Negro contralto, Marian Anderson.

Miss Anderson returned to her native Philadelphia for a luncheon introducing her autobiography "My Lord, What a Morning."

Part of the ceremony was to be the little girl's performance and a meeting with Miss Anderson, who was born and reared in the same neighborhood.

Harriet was overwhelmed by the meeting. She presented Miss Anderson a bouquet and, impulsively, reached up and embraced her idol.

Voice Breaks, Tears

They chatted and the girl became more at ease.

Then it was time to perform and Harriet showed nervousness again. Her childish voice trembled as she sang "O, Holy Night." Part way through her second selection, "Il Bacio," Harriet paused for a moment, coughed and froze before the eyes of hundreds of adults and for her—worst of all—before Miss Anderson.

The girl collapsed in tears. The guests sat mute.

Miss Anderson broke the pained silence, went to Harriet and took the girl in her arms.

How Christian Science Heals

"THE WAY OF FREEDOM"

WGCT (1450 kc) Sunday 9:15 A.M.

COUNTERPANE CATHEDRAL

There was a man who had stopped going to church because, he said, "Church doesn't make me feel any nearer to God."

One night he stepped into the children's room to kiss them good night. And suddenly he felt as though he were in church. There was a pillowed altar and a devout congregation in prayer. Yet he didn't feel any nearer to God.

And in that moment he learned the truth that every soul must learn: religion is not some outer force that brings God close to a man. Religion is man's inner yearning which reaches up and discovers how near God is.

And so, from the example of his children, he learned how to find the faith which had eluded him. And, finding it, he returned to church to share with other Christians the rich experience of worship . . . to receive the spiritual gifts of Word and Sacrament . . . to serve Christ in the vital, challenging work of the Church.

He knows that in church—or in a moonlit nursery—God is near those who want Him near!

THE CHURCH FOR ALL . . . ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible, daily.

Sunday School Lesson

By H. R. and M. C. Gold

THE WAY OF CHRISTIAN LOVE I Corinthians 13

Key Verse: So faith hope, love abide, these three; but the greatest of these is love. I Cor. 13:13.

Establishing a mission congregation is one thing and maintaining its morale is quite another. Paul found this true of the church at Corinth which was growing rapidly but had many difficult problems to adjust. Reports had come to the Apostle about the immorality practiced by some of its members, crudities and other pressing matters. Specific questions had been put to Paul and his guidance sought in the treatment of particular issues. These requests may seem archaic now but they were very real to the congregation at Corinth.

In reply Paul wrote one of the most practical and provocative books in the New Testament — the First Epistle to the Corinthians. It contains three of the most valuable documents in the Bible: (1) the earliest account of the institution of the Lord's Supper; (2) the earliest account of the Resurrection of Jesus Christ; and (3) this matchless hymn of praise to love in the thirteenth chapter. In the latter Paul first addresses himself to the relative value of so-called "spiritual gifts."

"Spirit Of Love"

Dr. John Moffatt, commenting on this hymn of love in his book Love in the New Testament, says: "Now, we do not parse a lyric, except in school-books, and this great passage is a lyrical piece on Christian love. But it is not a collection of fine words and phrases, strung together without any connection. The Apostle is not speaking at random. First (vss. 1-3), he explains that without love the highest endowments and experiences of the Christian community are valueless, since their end is the good of the community, and this good cannot be attained apart from the spirit of love."

The matter of "speaking with tongues" and its value, the ability to teach, prophecy, or heal: these were the specific issues which were troubling the church at Corinth and needed to be answered for them and all Christian congregations. So in chapters 12-14 Paul discusses these various religious expressions and their relative values. In the midst of it he introduces his great passage on love by saying, "I will show you a still more excellent way" (12:31). The passage is easily divided into three parts: (1) The superiority of love to other gifts, vss. 1-3; (2) the characteristics of love in action, vss. 4-7; and (3) the eternal permanence of love.

Superiority Of Love

The word "love" as used in this chapter means the Christian's love for his neighbor rather than the Christian's love for God, although no true believer can practice the former without possessing the latter. This love poem does not attempt to define "love" but shows how love works in practical, daily living. Speaking "in the tongues of men and of angels" or possessing prophetic insight into Christian truth or having exceptional knowledge will be entirely valueless without love.

The sacrifice of property may be self-centered; even martyrdom may be of little value for the individual. As Paul says, "but have not love, I gain nothing." "It is love alone which can inspire and give value to these great gifts for the common good of the Church."

Love In Action

How do we judge a church? By its fine edifice, its gifted pastor, its excellent choir, its many activities, its big budget? Certainly, these are attractive features in any congregation but not necessarily the most valuable. In fact, they are all worthless unless the members express love in action to other members and to the community and world in general. What the congregation feels and does in the spirit of love is what actually counts. A church with an open heart and hand is the one which is truly Christian.

Love is the mark of true religion. It is patient and long-suffering, gentle and kind, charitable and not boastful. Another thing about love is that it can be firm, not arrogant; and be thoughtful about others, not easily irritated by someone. A Christian "does not rejoice at wrong." His first impulse is to endure and "bear all things" even as he wishes to "believe all things." He gives credit when due and avoids and discourages all gossip. Even when all the evidence is against his neighbor he hopes for the best and strives to encourage him to do better. These are the real expressions of Christian love. And Paul, the Apostle of faith, ends his praise of love with a note of tenacity.

Love Never Ends

The enduring, permanent quality of love is what holds families, churches, and nations together. It outlasts life and conquers death. Soldiers, priests, and statesmen scoffed at Jesus dying on the Cross. But no one has ever defeated the love of the Savior. It is the quality which is the greatest,

YOUNG DOCTOR ADMITS HE WAS "CAT BURGLAR"

REDWOOD CITY, Calif. (AP) — Dr. John F. Riordan, 35-year-old anesthetist, says he was a "cat burglar" because he became "unglued" mentally.

Dr. Riordan is employed at San Mateo County's Community Hospital.

Dr. Harold Cho, county health director, blamed worry and overwork for the dapper 35-year-old surgical aide's troubles. He said Riordan would be kept on the payroll.

"I've been working the life out of the guy often more than 80 hours a week," Dr. Cho declared.

"This man is not a criminal. He has a mental illness. I've been trying for months to get some help at the hospital for him."

Has Wife, Daughter
Dr. Riordan said he had had only five days vacation in three years.

He was arrested at Community Hospital Tuesday. He has a wife and 7-year-old daughter.

The arrest was kept secret until Wednesday.

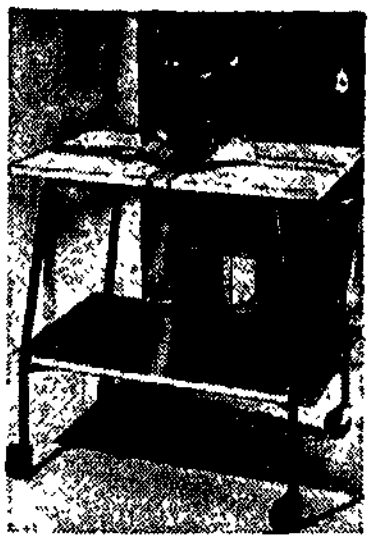

Police refused details about the burglary the doctor admits. Dr. Cho was present when newsmen talked to Dr. Riordan and stopped all questions about the break-in or whether there was more than one.

Dr. Riordan said: "I admit only one incident. Officers asked me about several other cases and I have no memory of ever having been in any of those homes, by invitation or otherwise."

He blamed an "obsessive compulsion to prowl."

Series Of Burglaries
His arrest came after a series of burglaries in Belmont, a San Francisco suburb where he lives near the hospital.

Of the burglary two houses from his own, Dr. Riordan said he jimmied a back door with a metal rod, entered and fled when he heard a radio playing.

Police use the term "cat burglar" for those who break into occupied homes.

Dr. Riordan said, "I'm now seeking psychiatric treatment. I am not under continuous compulsion to do irrational things. I don't remember taking anything. Under the stress of the moment, I acted without reason and I still can't give any reason for it."

"It was several months ago," he added, "that I really felt myself coming unglued."

Didn't Need Money
Dr. Riordan said he didn't need money—that he has $2,800 in a checking account and $800 in a savings account.

He likened his condition to a nervous breakdown.

Dr. Cho remarked that Dr. Riordan was "sick as hell" and contended he was a "very solid citizen, very religious and very competent in his field." He said the anesthetist would resume work after four or five days rest.

Dr. Riordan was booked for investigation of burglary and then released without bail to Dr. Cho.

EDEN HOPES TO RETAIN OFFICE DESPITE FUSS

LONDON (AP) — Prime Minister Eden, cheered and heavily tanned after his three-week vacation in Jamaica, flew homeward today to resume the helm of Britain's government.

Eden returns to a nation sharply divided over the wisdom of his military leap into Egypt and spotted with anti-Americanism. But there was no evidence of any concerted move by the Conservative party to dump him in favor of some less controversial figure as prime minister.

There still was strong resentment in important segments of the party because of the Egyptian fiasco. But even Eden's critics could suggest no one else in the Conservative ranks who could command the party's united support.

The influential London Times commented editorially that it was no use getting rid of Eden "if instead of King Log the prospect offered seems to be a jam of small timber."

The Times warned, however, that Eden "must now show that he can and will lead a vigorous, progressive, efficient government, or the strains that have been set up will demand someone else."

Eden Is Confident
Another leading London newspaper which supports the Conservative government, the London Telegraph, hinted broadly it may already be time for Eden to go. It cited the need for recreating confidence in his leadership.

When the Prime Minister and Lady Eden boarded a British airliner in Kingston yesterday for the flight home, he indicated strongly he hopes to ride out the political storm.

Thanking the Jamaican people and government for the quiet vacation ordered by his doctors after the strain of the Egyptian crisis, Eden said he was "completely rested and returning to my duties heartened and strengthened."

He added that "I return to my duties generally heartened and strengthened by my stay among you."

On Eden's agenda, after a meeting at No. 10 Downing St with his top Cabinet members, was a physical checkup sometime during the weekend at his country home outside London.

He is due to face Parliament again Monday afternoon.

ANSWER TO BRUTALITY
MUNICH, Germany (AP) — U.S. Ambassador James B. Conant got an Airlift to America off to its third day Thursday by telling Hungarian refugees the operation was his country's answer to Soviet brutality.

Conant spoke in a drizzling rain to refugees massed before a big U.S. Air Force transport, which afterward flew off for New Jersey. It was the 10th plane to leave Munich airport during the

OIL IMPORT BILL TO BE REVIVED

WASHINGTON (AP) — Rep. Kelly (D-Pa.) said today he will again introduce next year a bill to place a quota limitation on residual oil imports.

Kelly said the proposed legislation would be identical to the measure he sponsored in the 84th Congress to restrict imports to 10 per cent of the domestic demand for the industrial fuel.

The congressman said the current expansion of ocean shipping facilities for oil is an essential precaution against an economic breakdown in Europe. But, he added, it carries a highly dangerous threat to U. S. fuel industries.

"If and when the Suez is reopened to tanker traffic," he said, "a considerable portion of this shipping capacity will automatically become excess."

Under these circumstances, he said, there is no question but that this country would be confronted with a "new deluge of alien oil" unless legislative restrictions are invoked to protect American markets.

IKE AND NEHU MAY CLASH ON SOME POLICIES

By JOHN M. HIGHTOWER

WASHINGTON (AP) — Next week's talks between President Eisenhower and Prime Minister Nehru of India are likely to produce a clash of ideas on half a dozen major issues, but a better mutual understanding may emerge.

Both Indian and American officials believe closer and more friendly relations between the two nations may be the result.

Diplomats familiar with preparations for the four-day talks starting Sunday discount any possibility that the exchange will produce misunderstanding or ill feeling.

They say both men are far too experienced in international relations to press differences on any question to the point of making them worse instead of better.

Papers Ready
Eisenhower, who returned to

Washington late yesterday from Augusta, Ga., found waiting for him State Department policy papers on every question which officials think may arise.

In addition, he will get a personal report from Republican Sen. John Sherman Cooper of Kentucky, former ambassador to India who has just returned from talks with Nehru at New Delhi.

The major issues likely to produce differences between Eisenhower and Nehru are these:

1. Red China — Nehru believes Chinese communism must be accepted as a reality. He would like to see Red China admitted to the United Nations and given eventual U.S. recognition. Eisenhower will explain the reasons for the opposite U.S. position, including resentment at Red China's intervention in Korea and concern over the future of Formosa.

2. Middle East — Nehru said two days ago the United States should "take the bull by the horns and deal with Russia on a settlement" in the Middle East. Eisenhower has said repeatedly the principal U.S. effort must be concentrated in the United Nations.

3. Military alliances — Nehru has long opposed such pacts on the ground that they increase tensions.

4. Hungary — Both Eisenhower and Nehru want to see Soviet troops withdrawn, but Nehru questions the U.S. policy of repeatedly condemning Russia in the United Nations, saying it is unwise to humiliate a great power.

Not Fiercely Issue

5. Neutralism — Eisenhower has emphasized that he respects India's policy of not lining up with either of the great power blocs. But he is said to believe that no free nation can or should be neutral as between democracy and communism, and undoubtedly would like to convince Nehru of that.

6. Colonialism — The United States has sometimes been subjected to criticism in Asia on the ground that it was interested in developing some new kind of colonialism in underdeveloped countries. But much of the fire has gone out of this issue primarily because of the American split with Britain and France over their attack on Egypt.

GETTYSBURG, PA.

YOUNG DOCTOR ADMITS HE WAS "CAT BURGLAR"

REDWOOD CITY, Calif. (AP) — Dr. John F. Riordan, $15,000-a-year anesthetist, says he was a "cat burglar" because he became "unglued" mentally.

Dr. Riordan is employed at San Mateo County's Community Hospital.

Dr. Harold Chope, county health director, blamed worry and overwork for the dapper 35-year-old surgical aide's troubles. He said Riordan would be kept on the payroll.

"I've been working the life out of the guy, often more than 80 hours a week," Dr. Chope declared.

"This man is not a criminal. He has a mental illness. I've been trying for months to get some help at the hospital for him."

Has Wife, Daughter
Dr. Riordan said he had had only five days vacation in three years.

He was arrested at Community Hospital Tuesday. He has a wife and 7-year-old daughter.

The arrest was kept secret until Wednesday.

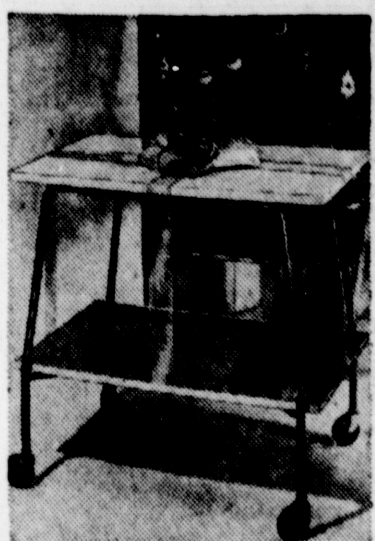

Police refused details about the burglary the doctor admits. Dr. Chope was present when newsmen talked to Dr. Riordan and stopped all questions about the break-in or whether there was more than one.

Dr. Riordan said: "I admit only one incident. Officers asked me about several other cases and I have no memory of ever having been in any of those homes, by invitation or otherwise."

He blamed an "obsessive compulsion to prowling."

Series Of Burglaries
His arrest came after a series of burglaries in Belmont, a San Francisco suburb where he lives near the hospital.

Of the burglary two houses from his own, Dr. Riordan said he jimmied a back door with a metal rod, entered and fled when he heard a radio playing.

Police use the term "cat burglar" for those who break into occupied homes.

Dr. Riordan said, "I'm now seeking psychiatric treatment. I am not under continuous compulsion to do irrational things. I don't remember taking anything. Under the stress of the moment, I acted without reason and I still can't give any reason for it."

"It was several months ago," he added, "that I really felt myself coming unglued."

Didn't Need Money
Dr. Riordan said he didn't need money—that he has $2,800 in a checking account and $900 in a savings account.

He likened his condition to a nervous breakdown.

Dr. Chope remarked that Dr. Riordan was "sick as hell" and contended he was a "very solid citizen, very religious and very competent in his field."

He said the anesthetist would resume work after four or five days rest.

Dr. Riordan was booked for investigation of burglary and then released without bail to Dr. Chope.

EDEN HOPES TO RETAIN OFFICE DESPITE FUSS

LONDON (AP) — Prime Minister Eden, cheered and heavily tanned after his three-week vacation in Jamaica, flew homeward today to resume the helm of Britain's government.

Eden returns to a nation sharply divided over the wisdom of his military leap into Egypt and spotted with anti-Americanism. But there was no evidence of any concerted move by the Conservative party to dump him in favor of some less controversial figure as prime minister.

There still was strong resentment in important segments of the party because of the Egyptian fiasco. But even Eden's critics could suggest no one else in the Conservative ranks who could command the party's united support.

The influential London Times commented editorially that it was no use getting rid of Eden "if instead of King Log the prospect offered seems to be a jam of small timber."

The Times warned, however, that Eden "must now show that he can and will lead a vigorous, progressive, efficient government, or the strains that have been set up will demand someone else."

Eden Is Confident

Another leading London newspaper which supports the Conservative government, the London Telegraph, hinted broadly it may already be time for Eden to go. It cited the need for recreating confidence in his leadership.

When the Prime Minister and Lady Eden boarded a British airliner in Kingston yesterday for the flight home, he indicated strongly he hopes to ride out the political storm.

Thanking the Jamaican people and government for the quiet vacation ordered by his doctors after the strain of the Egyptian crisis, Eden said he was "completely rested and returning to my duties heartened and strengthened."

He added that "I return to my duties generally heartened and strengthened by my stay among you."

On Eden's agenda, after a meeting at No. 10 Downing St. with his top Cabinet members, was a physical checkup sometime during the weekend at his country home outside London.

He is due to face Parliament again Monday afternoon.

OIL IMPORT BILL TO BE REVIVED

WASHINGTON (AP) — Rep. Kelly (D-Pa.) said today he will again introduce next year a bill to place a quota limitation on residual oil imports.

Kelley said the proposed legislation would be identical to the measure he sponsored in the 84th Congress to restrict imports to 10 per cent of the domestic demand for the industrial fuel.

The congressman said the current expansion of ocean shipping facilities for oil is an essential precaution against an economic breakdown in Europe. But, he added, it carries a highly dangerous threat to U. S. fuel industries.

"If and when the Suez is reopened to tanker traffic," he said, "a considerable portion of this shipping capacity will automatically become excess."

Under these circumstances, he said, there is no question but that this country would be confronted with a "new deluge of alien oil" unless legislative restrictions are invoked to protect American markets.

SYRACUSE, N.Y. (AP) — A woman walked up to a window in the post office here and asked for $8.56 worth of stamps. She then offered her charge plate issued by department stores.

IKE AND NERHU MAY CLASH ON SOME POLICIES

By JOHN M. HIGHTOWER

WASHINGTON (AP) — Next week's talks between President Eisenhower and Prime Minister Nehru of India are likely to produce a clash of ideas on half a dozen major issues, but a better mutual understanding may emerge.

Both Indian and American officials believe closer and more friendly relations between the two nations may be the result.

Diplomats familiar with preparations for the four-day talks starting Sunday discount any possibility that the exchange will produce misunderstanding or ill feeling. They say both men are far too experienced in international relations to press differences on any question to the point of making them worse instead of better.

Papers Ready

Eisenhower, who returned to

Washington late yesterday from Augusta, Ga., found waiting for him State Department policy papers on every question which officials think may arise.

In addition, he will get a personal report from Republican Sen. John Sherman Cooper of Kentucky, former ambassador to India who has just returned from talks with Nehru at New Delhi.

The major issues likely to produce differences between Eisenhower and Nehru are these:

1. Red China — Nehru believes Chinese communism must be accepted as a reality. He would like to see Red China admitted to the United Nations and given eventual U.S. recognition. Eisenhower will explain the reasons for the opposite U.S. position, including resentment at Red China's intervention in Korea and concern over the future of Formosa.

2. Middle East — Nehru said two days ago the United States should "take the bull by the horns and deal with Russia on a settlement" in the Middle East. Eisenhower has said repeatedly the principal U.S. effort must be concentrated in the United Nations.

3. Military alliances — Nehru has long opposed such pacts on the ground that they increase tensions.

4. Hungary — Both Eisenhower and Nehru want to see Soviet troops withdrawn, but Nehru questions the U.S. policy of repeatedly condemning Russia in the United Nations, saying it is unwise to humiliate a great power.

Not Fiery Issue

5. Neutralism — Eisenhower has emphasized that he respects India's policy of not lining up with either of the great power blocs. But he is said to believe that no free nation can or should be neutral as between democracy and communism, and undoubtedly would like to convince Nehru of that.

6. Colonialism — The United States has sometimes been subjected to criticism in Asia on the ground that it was interested in developing some new kind of colonialism in underdeveloped countries. But much of the fire has gone out of this issue primarily because of the American split with Britain and France over their attack on Egypt.

"THE WAY OF FREEDOM"

WGCT (490 kc) Sunday 8:15 A.M.

COUNTERPANE CATHEDRAL

There was a man who had stopped going to church because, he said, "Church doesn't make me feel any nearer to God."

One night he stepped into the children's room to kiss them good night. And suddenly he felt as though he were in church. There was a pillowed altar and a devout congregation in prayer. Yet he didn't feel any nearer to God.

And in that moment he learned the truth that every soul must learn; religion is not some outer force that brings God close to a man. Religion is man's inner yearning which reaches up and discovers how near God is.

And so, from the example of his children, he learned how to find the faith which had eluded him. And, finding it, he returned to church to share with other Christians the rich experience of worship . . . to receive the spiritual gifts of Word and Sacrament . . . to serve Christ in the vital, challenging work of the Church.

He knows that in church—or in a moonlit nursery—God is near those who want Him near!

THE CHURCH FOR ALL . . . ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

THE WAY OF CHRISTIAN LOVE I Corinthians 13

Key Verse: So faith, hope, love abide, these three; but the greatest of these is love. I Cor. 13:13.

Establishing a mission congregation is one thing and maintaining its morale is quite another. Paul found this true of the church at Corinth which was growing rapidly but had many difficult problems to adjust. Reports had come to the Apostle about the immorality practiced by some of its members, crudities in celebrating the Lord's Supper, and other pressing matters. Specific questions had been put to Paul and his guidance sought in the treatment of particular issues. These requests may seem archaic now but they were very real to the congregation at Corinth.

In reply Paul wrote one of the most practical and provocative books in the New Testament—the First Epistle to the Corinthians. It contains three of the most valuable documents in the Bible: (1) the earliest account of the institution of the Lord's Supper; (2) the earliest account of the Resurrection of Jesus Christ; and (3) this matchless hymn of praise to love in the thirteenth chapter. In the latter Paul first addresses himself to the relative value of so-called "spiritual gifts."

"Spirit Of Love"
Dr. John Moffatt, commenting on this hymn of love in his book Love in the New Testament, says: "Now, we do not parse a lyric, except in school-books, and this great passage is a lyrical piece on Christian love. But it is not a collection of fine words and phrases, strung together without any connection. The Apostle is not speaking at random. First (vss. 1-3), he explains that without love the highest endowments and experiences of the Christian community are valueless, since their end is the good of the community, and this good cannot be attained apart from the spirit of love."

The matter of "speaking with tongues" and its value, the ability to teach, prophesy, or heal; these were the specific issues which were troubling the church at Corinth and needed to be answered for them and all Christian congregations. So in chapters 12-14 Paul discusses these various religious expressions and their relative values. In the midst of it he introduces his great passage on love by saying, "I will show you a still more excellent way" (12:31). The passage is easily divided into three parts: (1) The superiority of love to other gifts, vss. 1-3; (2) the characteristics of love in action, vss. 4-7; and (3) the eternal permanence of love.

Superiority Of Love
The word "love" as used in this chapter means the Christian's love for his neighbor rather than the Christian's love for God, although no true believer can practice the former without possessing the latter. This love poem does not attempt to define "love" but shows how love works in practical, daily living. Speaking "in the tongues of men and of angels" or possessing prophetic insight into Christian truth or having exceptional knowledge will be entirely valueless without love.

The sacrifice of property may be self-centered; even martyrdom may be of little value for the individual. As Paul says, "but have not love, I gain nothing." "It is love alone which can inspire and give value to these great gifts for the common good of the Church."

Love In Action
How do we judge a church? By its fine edifice, its gifted pastor, its excellent choir, its many activities, its big budget? Certainly, these are attractive features in any congregation but not necessarily the most valuable. In fact, they are all worthless unless the members express love in action to other members and to the community and world in general. What the congregation feels and does in the spirit of love is what actually counts. A church with an open heart and hand is the one which is truly Christian.

Love is the mark of true religion. It is patient and long-suffering, gentle and kind, charitable and not boastful. Another thing about love is that it can be firm, not arrogant; and be thoughtful about others, not easily irritated by someone. A Christian "does not rejoice at wrong." His first impulse is to endure and "bear all things" even as he wishes to "believe all things." He gives credit when due and avoids and discourages all gossip. Even when all the evidence is against his neighbor he hopes for the best and strives to encourage him to do better. These are the real expressions of Christian love. And Paul, the Apostle of faith, ends his praise of love with a note of tenderness.

Love Never Ends
The enduring permanent quality of love is what holds families, churches, and nations together. It outlasts life and conquers death. Soldiers, priests, and statesmen scoffed at Jesus dying on the Cross. But no one has ever defeated the love of the Savior. It is the quality which is the greatest, greater than faith or hope, because it is of the very nature of God himself.

BLOCKED CANAL MAY BE USED AS NASSER WEAPON

By JAMES MARLOW
Associated Press News Analyst
WASHINGTON (AP) — Don't be surprised if Egyptian President Nasser uses the blocked-up Suez Canal either to try to wreck West Europe's economy or blackmail the United States into giving him economic help.

The Egyptian foreign minister, Mahmoud Fawzi, complained yesterday in Washington that he hears much in the United States about helping Britain and France, which attacked Egypt, but "hardly anything" about helping Egypt. It has been estimated that clearing the canal — where about 50 ships were sunk during the British-French attack — will take from two months to six months if work gets under way quickly.

Hurts Egypt Too
The longer the canal is closed, the longer the economy of U. S. allies in Western Europe will be affected. This serves Russia's interests. This country doesn't want its allies to slide downhill.

Egypt's economy also will suffer, the longer the canal is out of business, because of the loss of revenue from ships which used the canal. Associated Press reports from Cairo says the Egyptian economy still looks stable. It's questionable how long it will remain so without the reopening of the canal or outside assistance.

Two Sources Of Help
The United States and Russia are the two places where Egypt might hope to get economic help. Fawzi said Egypt wants "no assistance" from the United States or Russia. That's a switch. It should be remembered, in watching Nasser's maneuvers in the weeks ahead, that he was enraged and seized the canal last summer within a few days after Secretary of State Dulles called off a proposed big loan to Egypt. The United Nations has undertaken — or thinks it has — the task of getting the sunken ships out of the canal. The U. N., which agreed this should be done quickly, chose a retired American army officer, Lt. Gen. Raymond A. Wheeler, to direct the canal operations.

Still Uncertain
But once British and French troops are all cleared out of the Suez area, there is no certainty Nasser will let the U. N. forces there lift a ship or a finger to clear the canal.

He might even demand that all the U. N. salvae experts and go home. Egypt has never agreed the U. N. forces should stay around Suez any length of time after the British and French are gone.

Fawzi said in New York Dec. 2 the U. N. troops in Egypt "are not there to resolve the Palestine question or any other question" but "only so long as the crisis endures and as short a time as possible." With the British and French gone, Nasser can try to suit himself about clearing the canal. If he stalls, the U. N. will have to consider the whole Egyptian problem all over again.

Federal Grand Jury In Session Today

SCRANTON, Pa. (AP) — Another session of the federal grand jury was called today after expected indictments failed to materialize yesterday in probe of the 34-million-dollar Tobyhanna Signal Corps Depot.

Jurors went home after a brief session with U. S. Atty. J. Julius Levy and Levy gave no explanation of the change in plans.

Earlier an official of the Keystone Concrete Co., Conshohocken, turned over records to the jury. Herbert Graff, the firm's office manager gave what officials said was a five-foot-tall stack of cancelled checks. The concrete company held a contract for work at the depot.

Another witness was E. R. Clement, Bridgeport, Conn., who sold supplies to Frederick Raff, a Hartford, Conn., contractor. Raff is under indictment on charges of offering a $10,000 bribe in an effort to win a $2,660,000 subcontract.

The Bermuda lily's commercial value was discovered by Gen. Russell Hastings, an American Civil War veteran who had retired to the British colony for his health.

MUCH OF U.S. IS WET AND COLD

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Wet and colder weather prevailed over broad areas in the eastern section of the country today but snow-covered areas in the north central region got a little warming.

Colder air moved into the East after yesterday's springlike weather in many areas. The chilly belt extended from New England southwestward through southeastern Texas. A little colder was in prospect along the coast line from New England southward to the Carolinas. Readings in the mid 70s were reported yesterday in parts of Virginia and were near 60 in southern New England.

With the colder air, came rain, freezing rain and fog in the Middle Atlantic Coast states, with rain in southern sections of the Ohio Valley and the central Gulf states. Fog also covered areas in most of the Southeast and in parts of the middle Mississippi Valley southwestward through Oklahoma.

Rain mixed with snow and sleet was in prospect during the day in parts of southern New England and through most of the Middle Atlantic Coast states. Showers are indicated in much of the Southeast and in states bordering the central Gulf coast.

XMAS TREES MAY NOT REACH POLE IN TIME

By DON GUY

MCMURDO SOUND, Antarctica (AP)—The South Pole now really has a pole, but its white Christmas may not be graced by a tree.

The pole's pole, a heavy length of bamboo striped with black and yellow paint, was dropped to the 24-man American polar party Wednesday. But that cargo flight was the last until the Navy, Air Force, Santa Claus or somebody comes up with some more aviation gasoline.

Waiting here for distribution to the U.S. Deep Freeze groups are eight Christmas trees flown in from Oregon. One was to be dropped at the pole. How to get it there is the problem.

A new supply of airplane fuel is aboard the tanker Nespelen, 1,000 miles away from this antarctic base. An icebreaker will have to clear part of its path to McMurdo. The arrival date is uncertain.

The 24 men at the South Pole, most of them Seabees, are building a scientific base for observations during the International Geophysical Year. Their best hope for a spot of Christmas greenery amid the vast expanse of white lies in a scheme to be tried by McMurdo camp commander David Canham Jr.

Canham hopes to pump air through more than two miles of hose leading from a now-empty fuel tank to the airstrip here. He figures there is enough gas in the hose—if it can be forced out—to make one more cargo drop at the pole.

If the flight is made, Christmas trees and mail will drop on the

TWO RECIPES FOR BRUSSELS SPROUTS DISHES

By CECILY BROWNSTONE
The Associated Press

polar base and on the zig loneliest men in the far-flung Deep Freeze operation. The six are camped at a refueling cache about midway on the 800-mile flight from McMurdo to the pole.

The Christmas mail for the 429 Americans at various stations in Antarctica arrived here yesterday by ship from New Zealand.

But whether the polar party gets its Christmas tree or not, it already has gratefully acknowledged one portion of a cargo drop made this week. Lt. Richard A. Bowers of Harrisburg, Pa., head of the construction crew at the pole, reported his men were delighted to find a load of beer had been parachuted down safely.

Let Brussels sprouts, Tom Thumb member of the cabbage family, lend variety to menus. The English, who seem to dote on this vegetable, are teased for serving it in one fashion: plain boiled. Americans, with their customary energy, are inclined to offer the miniature heads in various ways. Here for your delectation are two recipes.

But one admonishment! Cook Brussels sprouts only until tender-crisp; this way they'll retain their pretty green color and have a delicate flavor and interesting texture. Your reward for this care in cooking will be the pleasure with which the sprouts will be greeted at your table.

Brussels Sprouts Au Gratin
Ingredients: 1 pint basket (¾ to 1 pound) Brussels sprouts, boiling water, salt, cheese sauce, 3 tablespoons butter or margarine, 1 cup soft bread crumbs.

Method: Wash Brussels sprouts in cold water; remove wilted leaves and soak in salted water about 20 minutes. Rinse and place in a saucepan with 1 inch of boiling water and ½ teaspoon salt. Bring to boiling point; boil 3 minutes without cover. Cover and boil until tender-crisp—10 to 20 minutes. Drain, if necessary.

and place in baking dish (1 quart), alternating layers of sprouts with cheese sauce. Melt butter and mix with bread crumbs. Sprinkle crumbs over the top of vegetable and sauce. Bake in moderate (350 degrees) oven until bubbly hot—20 minutes or longer. If topping isn't browned, dish may be placed under broiler for a minute or so. Makes 4 to 5 servings.

Cheese Sauce
Ingredients: 2 tablespoons butter or margarine, 2 tablespoons flour, 1 cup milk, ½ teaspoon salt, pepper, 1 tablespoon grated lemon rind, ¾ cup grated sharp cheddar cheese.

Method: Melt butter in saucepan over low heat; blend in flour. Add milk; cook and stir constantly over moderately low heat until bubbly and thickened. Remove from heat. Add salt, pepper to taste, grated lemon rind and grated cheese. Stir until cheese melts. If necessary, place sauce over very low heat and stir constantly to finish melting cheese. Makes 1½ cups.

Company Brussels Sprouts
Ingredients: 1 quart basket (about 2 pounds) Brussels sprouts, boiling water, salt, 3 tablespoons butter or margarine, 2 tablespoons slivered blanched almonds.

Method: Wash Brussels sprouts in cold water; remove wilted leaves and soak in salted water about 20 minutes. Rinse and place in a saucepan with 1 inch of boiling water and ½ teaspoon salt. Bring to boiling point; boil 3 minutes without cover. Cover and boil until tender-crisp—10 to 20 minutes. Drain, if necessary. Melt butter in a small skillet (6 or 7 inches); add almonds; brown almonds slowly, stirring often. Sprinkle almonds with salt to taste. Pour over Brussels sprouts; toss lightly. Serve at once. Makes 6 servings.

Note: To blanch almonds, put the nuts in a small saucepan and cover with cold water. Bring to a boil, remove from heat immediately and drain. Press each almond between thumb and forefinger to slip off skin. Dry nuts on paper towel. Immediately cut nuts into slivers (for Brussels sprouts recipe); nuts cut easily when still soft.

TAXIS REPLACE OLD RICKSHAWS

HONG KONG (AP)—Life has been bittersweet to the vanishing man of Asia, the cocky rickshaw puller. The taxicab is nudging him into oblivion.

The once familiar sight of a boo hat flopping jauntily as he darts through jammed streets is only a memory in most parts of Communist China.

He's fast disappearing from this teeming British colony, where once thousands of rickshaw haulers skillfully fought for space and passengers amid the bustle of the buses, trams, autos and foot traffic.

Today, there are perhaps 600 or so rickshaws left and not many

NOSTALGIA VIES WITH MODERN IN HOME FURNITURE

By VIVIAN BROWN

The Associated Press
Quiet elegance reinvigorated the seventh annual home furnishings show in New York.

Indicative of a nostalgic trend was Cecil Beaton's Edwardian period room done with the feminine charm which already has identified this designer's contribution to the season's fashions. He used white wicker furniture with rayon fabrics in soft shades of pink, titling backgrounds for fair ladies.

It was a charming room but suspect to the homemaker who enjoys the uncluttered look and has all the rumbling of a cycle that may take us back to the era of antimacassars and antiseptic. We may try to escape from color too, predict the prognosticators and return to deep hues—maybe black, navy or maroon, with the relief of a dusty rose here and there.

Tommy Parzinger's designs in rattan included an unusual "triple table" with two swiveling Larry Susan effects and an umbrella top, that reminded one of a grown-up what-not table from Grammy's front parlor. A useful, interesting piece it should be serviceable in the modern home.

"Funereal" Exhibit
One exhibit by a famous designer showed a window treatment that looked "funereal" to some onlookers. Another displayed a table treatment that was definitely popular during the World War I period.

Personality rooms by 14 decorators stressed that individually should be the aim in the homemaker's decor. Rooms were built around the personalities of Gen. Marshall, Celeste Holm, Françoise Tene, David Wayne, Jay Peerce and other personalities.

Color was used lovingly but sparingly by these decorators who are not as lavish with it as in the past few years. Color combinations included shades of lavender, blue, fuchsia and white with peacock green in Celeste Holm's inspirational room by designers Hoffmann and Heidrich and black, brown, white and Chinese yellow in the David Wayne room.

Teen Attic Room
One magazine decorated a charming attic room for two teen-age girls in pink and white accented with olive green and turquoise. A lovely teen-motif wallpaper with a matching fabric was a highlight of the room and a good utilization of space permitted book cases, cabinets, desks and dressers to appear in a built-in arrangement.

Floor air, wall treatments were unusual with one vinyl floor in a floral motif and another in flagstone effects. Walls included decorative cork brick and vinyl brick effects.

Missing $10,000 Returned To Auto

PALMYRA, Pa. (AP)—A Palmyra man told police yesterday that $10,000 in cash was returned to his car from when he reported it missing four days ago after he had suffered injuries in an accident.

State police said Richard Bowman, 28-year-old insurance agent, reported that the money apparently was returned to his parked auto last night while he was walking his dog near his home.

Last Monday Bowman told police the money was missing from his car after he returned to it from the Heister Hospital where he was given medical treatment for injuries suffered when his car crashed into a ditch.

He said at the time the money was contained in a brown leather bag. Bowman told police the money was returned to the car in the same leather bag.

MILTON, Pa. (AP)—A 21-year-old Milton man was being held today on a charge of murder in the fatal slaying of his aunt.

Milton Police Chief John Golden last night arrested Harry Brandt on charges of murder in the slaying of the man's aunt, Mr. Margaret P. Haines, 36, also of Milton.

Miss Haines died early yesterday of three stab wounds Golden said were inflicted with a butcher knife. One wound was through the heart.

His take-home pay averages about $15 U. S. a month, or 50 cents a day, the price of a quart of milk here. His two daughters, chubby from their rice diet, have never tasted fresh cow's milk.

LADYLIKE LOOK INVADES YEAR'S RESORT STYLES

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Those light-hearted California fashion designers ignore the impending snow and ice that seasonally blankets the northern part of the nation, and show fashions for fun in the sun.

These will be seen in the plushier resorts this winter and will set the pace for beach and play next summer. So it is that buyers from all over the country flock to Los Angeles in November.

To buy the clothes that the upper income brackets will be wearing in January, and the rest of the citizenry will put on in July.

This year the accent is on femininity in fashions for every occasion, from the dinner dance at the country club to the winter cruise. The careless look is strictly out of date this year, and women will wear ruffles and lace, even to the beach. They also will go in for ladylike covered-up fashions on most occasions, and will favor subtle colors rather than vivid tones.

Set Tempo
The California fashion collections set the tempo for beach, resort and sun fashions for the rest of the country and this year they stress a minor key: Silver gray, for instance, is the newest color for swim suits and beachwear, and beige is a favored color, appearing only in plain white.

There are, of course, bold color notes to break the monotony, but almost always are combined with white—and many designers cling to navy or beige and white as the top color combination of the year. It's a year in which to be subtle, be ladylike, be discreet, whether in the ballroom or at the beach.

XMAS TREES MAY NOT REACH POLE IN TIME

By DON GUY

MCMURDO SOUND, Antarctica (AP)—The South Pole now really has a pole, but its white Christmas may not be graced by a tree. The pole's pole, a heavy length of bamboo striped with black and yellow paint, was dropped to the 24-man American polar party Wednesday. But that cargo flight was the last until the Navy, Air Force, Santa Claus or somebody comes up with some more aviation gasoline.

Waiting here for distribution to the U.S. Deep Freeze groups are eight Christmas trees flown in from Oregon. One was to be dropped at the pole. How to get it there is the problem.

A new supply of airplane fuel is aboard the tanker Neepelen, 1,000 miles away from this antarctic base. An icebreaker will have to clear part of its path to McMurdo. The arrival date is uncertain.

The 24 men at the South Pole, most of them Seabees, are building a scientific base for observations during the International Geophysical Year. Their best hope for a spot of Christmas greenery amid the vast expanse of white lies in a scheme to be tried by McMurdo camp commander David Canham Jr.

Canham hopes to pump air through more than two miles of hose leading from a now-empty fuel tank to the airstrip here. He figures there is enough gas in the hose—if it can be forced out—to make one more cargo drop at the pole.

If the flight is made, Christmas trees and mail will drop on the

These five Pekinese are getting set financially for the life of Riley instead of a dog's life. They were left a life income of $150 monthly by their late owner, Miss Lena Beatrice Keller, a former Flora Dora girl, in Hot Springs, Ark. She also provided a $50 monthly payment for the Rev. TWO RECIPES FOR BRUSSELS SPROUTS DISHES

By CECILY BROWNSTONE
The Associated Press

Let Brussels sprouts, Tom Thumb member of the cabbage family, lend variety to menus. The English, who seem to dote on this vegetable, are teased for serving it in one fashion: plain boiled. Americans, with their customary energy, are inclined to offer the miniature heads in various ways. Here for your delectation are two recipes.

But one admonishment! Cook Brussels sprouts only until tender-crisp; this way they'll retain their pretty green color and have a delicate flavor and interesting texture. Your reward for this care in cooking will be the pleasure with which the sprouts will be greeted at your table.

Brussels Sprouts Au Gratin
Ingredients: 1 pint basket (¾ to 1 pound) Brussels sprouts, boiling water, salt, cheese sauce, 3 tablespoons butter or margarine, 1 cup soft bread crumbs.

Method: Wash Brussels sprouts in cold water; remove wilted leaves and soak in salted water about 20 minutes. Rinse and place in a saucepan with 1 inch of boiling water and ½ teaspoon salt. Bring to boiling point; boil 3 minutes without cover. Cover and boil until tender-crisp—10 to 20 minutes. Drain, if necessary.

and place in baking dish (1 quart), alternating layers of sprouts with cheese sauce. Melt butter and mix with bread crumbs. Sprinkle crumbs over the top of vegetable and sauce. Bake in moderate (350 degrees) oven until bubbly hot—20 minutes or longer. If topping isn't browned, dish may be placed under broiler for a minute or so. Makes 4 to 5 servings.

Cheese Sauce

Ingredients: 2 tablespoons butter or margarine, 2 tablespoons flour, 1 cup milk, ½ teaspoon salt, pepper, 1 tablespoon grated lemon rind, ¼ cup grated sharp cheddar cheese.

Method: Melt butter in saucepan over low heat; blend in flour. Add milk; cook and stir constantly over moderately low heat until bubbly and thickened. Remove from heat. Add salt, pepper to taste, grated lemon rind and grated cheese. Stir until cheese melts. If necessary, place sauce over very low heat and stir constantly to finish melting cheese. Makes 1½ cups.

Company Brussels Sprouts
Ingredients: 1 quart basket (about 2 pounds) Brussels sprouts, boiling water, salt, 3 tablespoons butter or margarine, 2 tablespoons slivered blanched almonds.

Method: Wash Brussels sprouts in cold water; remove wilted leaves and soak in salted water about 20 minutes. Rinse and place in a saucepan with 1 inch of boiling water and ½ teaspoon salt. Bring to boiling point; boil 3 minutes without cover. Cover and boil until tender-crisp—10 to 20 minutes. Drain, if necessary. Melt butter in a small skillet (6 or 7 inches); add almonds; brown almonds slowly, stirring often. Sprinkle almonds with salt to taste. Pour over Brussels sprouts; toss lightly. Serve at once. Makes 6 servings.

Note: To blanch almonds, put the nuts in a small saucepan and cover with cold water. Bring to a boil, remove from heat immediately and drain. Press each almond between thumb and forefinger to slip off skin. Dry nuts on paper towel. Immediately cut nuts into slivers (for Brussels sprouts recipe); nuts cut easily when still soft.

TAXIS REPLACE OLD RICKSHAWS

HONG KONG (AP)—Life has been bittersweet to the vanishing man of Asia, the cocky rickshaw puller. The taxicab is nudging him into oblivion.

The once familiar sight of a boo hat flopping jauntily as he darts through jammed streets is only a memory in most parts of Communist China.

He's fast disappearing from this teeming British colony, where once thousands of rickshaw haulers skillfully fought for space and passengers amid the bustle of the buses, trams, autos and foot traffic.

Today, there are perhaps 600 or so rickshaws left and not many

NOSTALGIA VIES WITH MODERN IN HOME FURNITURE

By VIVIAN BROWN
The Associated Press

Quiet elegance keyed the seventh annual homefurnishings show in New York.

Indicative of a nostalgic trend was Cecil Beaton's Edwardian period room, done with the feminine charm which already has identified this designer's contribution to the season's fashions. He used white wicker furniture with rayon fabrics in soft shades of pink—fitting backgrounds for fair ladies.

It was a charming room, but suspect to the homemaker who enjoys the uncluttered look and has all the rumbling of a cycle that may take us back to the era of antimacassars and antifliggins. We may try to escape from color too, predict the prognosticators and return to deep hues—maybe black, navy or maroon, with the relief of a dusty rose here and there.

Tommi Parzinger's designs in rattan included an unusual "triple table" with two swiveling Lazy Susan effects and an umbrella top, that reminded one of a grown-up what-not table from Granny's front parlor. A useful, interesting piece, it should be serviceable in the modern home.

"Funereal" Exhibit

One exhibit by a famous designer showed a window treatment that looked "funereal" to some onlookers. Another displayed a table treatment that was definitely popular during the World War I period.

Personality rooms by 14 decorators stressed that individually should be the aim in the homemaker's decor. Rooms were built around the personalities of Gen. Marshall, Celeste Holm, Franchot Tone, David Wayne, Jan Peerce and other personalities.

Color was used lovingly but sparingly by these decorators who are not as lavish with it as in the past few years. Color combinations included shades of lavender, blue, fuchsia and white with peacock green in Celeste Holm's inspirational room by designers Hoffmann and Heldrich and black, brown, white and Chinese yellow in the David Wayne room.

Teen Attic Room

One magazine decorated a charming attic room for two teen-age girls in pink and white accented with olive green and turquoise. A lovely teen-motif wallpaper with a matching fabric was a highlight of the room and a good utilization of space permitted book cases, cabinets, desks and dressers to appear in a built-in arrangement.

Floor and wall treatments were unusual with one vinyl floor in a floral motif and another in flagstone effects. Walls included decorative cork brick and vinyl brick effects.

Missing $10,000 Returned To Auto

PALMYRA, Pa. (AP)—A Palmyra man told police yesterday that $10,000 in cash was returned to his car from where he reported it missing four days ago after he had suffered injuries in an accident.

BLOCKED CANAL MAY BE USED AS NASSER WEAPON

By JAMES MARLOW
Associated Press News Analyst
WASHINGTON (AP) — Don't be surprised if Egyptian President Nasser uses the blocked-up Suez Canal either to try to wreck West Europe's economy or blackmail the United States into giving him economic help.
The Egyptian foreign minister, Mahmoud Fawzi complained yesterday in Washington that he hears much in the United States about helping Britain and France which attacked Egypt, but "hardly anything about helping Egypt."
It has been estimated that clearing the canal — where about 50 ships were sunk during the British-French attack — will take from two months to six months if work gets under way quickly.
Hurts Egypt Too
The longer the canal is closed, the longer the economy of U. S. allies in Western Europe will be affected. This serves Russia's interests. This country doesn't want its allies to slide downhill.
Egypt's economy also will suffer, the longer the canal is out of business, because of the loss of revenue from ships which used the canal.
Associated Press reports from Cairo says the Egyptian economy still looks stable. It's questionable how long it will remain so without the reopening of the canal or outside assistance.
Two Sources Of Help
The United States and Russia are the two places where Egypt might hope to get economic help. Fawzi said Egypt wants "no assistance from the United States or Russia. That's a swindle."
It should be remembered in watching Nasser's maneuvers in the weeks ahead, that he was en-

Follies Hopefuls

A dozen-plus girls line up for a pattern picture at auditions for the future Ziegfeld Follies show. At a Broadway studio in New York are, from left: Jaci Johnson, of Las Vegas, Nev.; Barbara Hill, of Pittsburgh; Judy Bass, of West Orange, N. J.; Pat Gardner, of New York City; Leslie Knoll, of Seaford, N. Y.; Geraldine Frank, of New York City; Pat Gaston, of San Antonio, Texas; Denise Collette, of Jamaica, N. raged and seized the canal last summer within a few days after Secretary of State Dulles called off a proposed big loan to Egypt. The United Nations has undertaken — or thinks it has — the task of getting the sunken ships out of the canal. The U. N., which agreed this should be done quickly, chose a retired American

Still Uncertain
But once British and French troops are all cleared out of the Suez area there is no certainty Nasser will let the U. N. forces there lift a ship or a finger to clear the canal.

He might even demand that all the U. N. salvage experts and go home. Egypt has never agreed the U. N. forces should stay around Suez any length of time after the British and French are gone.

Fawzi said in New York Dec. 2 the U. N. troops in Egypt "are not there to resolve the Palestine question or any other question" but "only so long as the crisis endures and as short a time as possible."

With the British and French gone Nasser can try to suit himself about clearing the canal. If he stalls the U. N. will have to consider the whole Egyptian problem all over again.

Cranberries were found by the Pilgrims near Plymouth Rock. Their original name was cranberries because they were a favorite food of cranes.

Federal Grand Jury In Session Today

SCRANTON, Pa. (AP) — Another session of the federal grand jury was called today after expected indictments failed to materialize yesterday in probe of the 34-million-dollar Tobyhanna Signal Corps Depot.

Jurors went home after a brief session with U. S. Atty. J. Julius Levy and Levy gave no explanation of the change in plans.

Earlier an official of the Keystone Concrete Co., Conshohocken, turned over records to the jury. Herbert Graff, the firm's office manager gave what officials said was a five-foot-tall stack of cancelled checks. The concrete company held a contract for work at the depot.

Another witness was E. R. Clement, Bridgeport, Conn. who sold supplies to Frederick Raff, a Hartford, Conn., contractor. Raff is under indictment on charges of offering a $10,000 bribe in an effort to win a $2,600,000 subcontract.

The Bermuda Lily's commercial value was discovered by Gen. Russell Hastings, an American Civil War veteran who had retired to the British colony for his health.

MUCH OF U.S. IS WET AND COLD

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Wet and colder weather prevailed over broad areas in the eastern section of the country today but snow-covered areas in the north central region got a little warming.

Colder air moved into the East after yesterday's springlike weather in many areas. The chilly belt extended from New England southwestward through southeastern Texas. A little cold air was in prospect along the coastline from New England southward to the Carolinas. Readings in the mid 70s were reported yesterday in parts of Virginia and were near 60 in southern New England.

With the colder air, came rain, freezing rain and fog in the Middle Atlantic Coast states, with rain in southern sections of the Ohio Valley and the central Gulf states. Fog also covered areas in most of the Southeast and in parts of the middle Mississippi Valley southwestward through Oklahoma. Rain mixed with snow and sleet was in prospect during the day in parts of southern New England and through most of the Middle Atlantic Coast states. Showers are indicated in much of the Southeast and in states bordering the central Gulf coast.

Original Big Conewago Brethren Congregation Had Turbulent Early History Due To Conflicts, Misunderstandings With Bermudian Church

The Big Conewago Congregation was organized in 1741. At the time of the organization it was the next to the largest congregation in the brotherhood. It comprised a large territory about East and Adams Counties. After the Berlin and York Springs in York and Adams Counties. After the Bermudian Seventh Day Baptist Brethren ceased to exist as an organization about the year 1820, the entire northern half of York County also became Big Conewago territory.

The first preacher, was George Adam Martin, who was born in Germany in 1715, and came to America at an early day. He was a member of the Reformed Church under Peter Miller in the Tulpehocken country. He united with the Church of the Brethren in 1735 and was ordained by Peter Becker in 1739. He lived first in the Coventry Church, later in the Conestoga Church. He then moved to the Big Conewago Church and became their first presiding elder.

The account given of Martin by Brumbaugh in his "History of the Brethren" states that Martin was a rash, impulsive, impatient man. He possessed an unusual mind, well trained in German and Latin, was a logical reasoner, a profound speaker and a ready writer. He did not kindly receive admonition, because he declared that everybody who knew him considered him a great Doctor of Holy Writ. He argued with his brethren in the Big Conewago Church that needless restrictions were adopted in that they did not allow anyone who was not baptized to partake of the Holy Sacraments. The controversy continued in Big Conewago Church for some time, terminated about 1760.

Congregation Of 77

In 1770 this congregation contained seventy-seven members. Some of the names given by Morgan Edwards were: George Brown, preacher; John Heiner, Peter Fox, Anthony Dierdorff, John Dierdorff, Nicholas Moyer, Manasseh Brough, Michael Bosserman, David Ahrhard, Daniel Baker, Andrew Trimmer, Peter Dierdorff, John Neagly, Welty Brissel, Lawrence Baker, Nicholas Baker Jr., Adam Dick, Henry Radibush, Jacob Sweigard, Peter Neiper, Joseph Latshaw, Abraham Stauffer, Henry Dierdorff, John Burkholder, Eustance Rentzel, Barnett Augengaug, Michael Brissel, Matthias Bowser, Philip Snell, Henry Brissel, George Wagner, George Reser and their wives. The unmarried were Peter Wertz, Ann Mummert, Christian Frey, Samuel Arnold, Mary Latshaw, Catherine Sidebaler, Sarah Brissel, Nicholas Baker, Marillas Baker, Jacob Brown and Rudolph Brown.

As early as 1736, a constituency of the Cloister of Ephrata, Pa., moved to the Bermudian country. This was a section of country along the Bermudian Creek in York County, nearly in the center of the Big Conewago Church. These Cloister Brethren worshipped with the Brethren of Big Conewago Church. Conrad Beissel, founder of the Cloister, was noted for his proselyting attitude, and, it is presumed, when he heard of the controversy in Big Conewago Church, he organized his Bermudian brethren in a Seventh Day Baptist organization in about 1758.

When George Martin was disowned in Big Conewago Congregation, he was at a loss to find fellowship and journeyed to the Cloister at Ephrata in 1762 and became a disciple of Beissel. John Horn was his associate on this visit. Some brethren from the Big Conewago Church were opposed to his excommunication, namely: John Sterner, Peter and Abraham Knipple, Frederick Furhman, George Schleitter, Peter Zug and a Brother Fink. They were anxious to reinstate him. After hearing of his acceptance of the Ephrata doctrine they dropped the matter. The Bermudian Church was under the control of Beissel and Peter Miller, until Beissel sent Rudolph Neagle and Jacob Gass to the Bermudian Church in 1762, and ordered the members to receive George Adam Martin as elder and minister.

Drew Large Crowds

The preaching of Martin drew large crowds. Being right in the center of Big Conewago Church, he might have won many of his former members to the Bermudian Church, but then John Mack, son of Alexander Mack, the founder, and a Brother Staub went among the members and explained to them the error and danger of the new movement. This blocked the way for Martin to win over to his Bermudian Church members from the Big Conewago Church.

In spite of all their misunderstandings the Bermudian Seventh Day Baptist Brethren and the Conewago Brethren worshipped together in suitable houses and barns for quite a number of years. About 1820 the Bermudian Seventh Day Baptist Church ceased to exist as an organization, having passed under the influence and control of the Brethren.

Leatherman Elected

After the removal of Martin, elder Daniel Leatherman was placed in charge of the Big Conewago Church and on his removal to Maryland 1766, Nicholas Martin was elected elder. He too moved to Maryland and was succeeded by George Brown, grandfather of the late Adam Brown. After the death of George Brown, Isaac Latshaw was placed in charge and after his death, William Trimmer, who remained elder until the congregation was divided in 1849.

Adam Brown was elected as brother to the word at an election held at the house of Brother John Mummert on the 26th day of May 1847. At a meeting held at Brother Jacob Lerew's in Big Conewago Congregation election for a Brother at the word was held with Daniel Longenecker and Joseph Myers each getting 26 votes. It was also elected to divide the congregation. At the time of the division of the Big Conewago Church in 1849, the following were ministers: William Trimmer, Elder in charge; Daniel Longenecker, Andrew Dierdorff, Peter Dierdorff, Joseph Myers, Jacob Brown and Adam Brown.

Services In Houses

The preaching services were held in the houses where they were large enough, and the Love Feasts and the bread-breaking were held in barns.

Tradition says that all the annual meetings (seven yearly or annual meetings) were held within the bounds of the Big Conewago Church held in the Big Conewago Congregation were on farms located on the banks of Big Conewago Creek, where there were easy access to the stream for watering the horses. During the meeting on the Peter Dierdorff farm, in 1844, the field west of the buildings, of about 10 or 12 acres was used for the horse pasture during the meeting. At this meeting, a horse had a leg broken from a kick received from another horse and had to be killed.

A solicitation was made and another horse purchased for the Brother who lived in Maryland or Virginia.

News Account

It was told by an old brother who attended this meeting: "Es Feld war voll Geil" (the field was full of horses). From the account given in the Pennsylvania Republican, a York County newspaper of 1844, "The weather was fine and the crowd large."

"The religious sect generally called 'Tunkers,' we believe held a very large meeting at Peter Dierdorff's, Dover township, which commenced on Friday and closed on Monday last. Members of the Society were present from every part of the Union where any of them resided. Religious services were held in Mr. Dierdorff's spacious barn and conducted alternately in the German and English languages. The occasion attracted a very large concourse of people, and we are not extravagant when we say that at least two thousand persons were present on Sunday last. Every avenue of access to the house was crowded with vehicles and horses but many went on foot."

Tradition has it that Dierdorff was a Tunker preacher in the Big Conewago area for about 50 years until his death in 1786. Church records, which are meager, do not support this.

The trees growing in Brooklyn and the four other New York City boroughs number about 2,300,000.

STATE POLICE COMMANDERS TO BE SHIFTED

HARRISBURG — The first large scale transfer of Pennsylvania state police district commanders will take effect Jan. 17. Col. Earl J. Henry, state police commissioner, yesterday announced the transfers which he described as "routine."

However, Lt. Col. A. F. Dahlstrom, deputy commissioner, said that district commanders had not been shuffled in a similar move for 10 years or longer.

Col. Dahlstrom added that he had no further definition of the word "routine" as used by Henry to describe the transfers.

Cadillac

Surpasses its Own Great Reputation!

You're looking at a mighty surprised man.

Almost all of his adult life he has owned Cadillac cars. And so, when he came in to see and drive the new 1957 Cadillac, he thought he knew about what to expect.

Well, here he is—barely under way in the city's traffic—and already he is learning the startling truth.

He is learning that nothing could adequately prepare a man for the new "car of cars"—not even Cadillac ownership itself!

He suspected it, in fact, the instant he caught his first glimpse of this newest

Cadillac creation. This was an entirely new kind of Cadillac beauty—brilliantly fresh in line and in contour.

And then he opened the door and swung into the driver's seat—and found added evidence all around him. On every side were new miracles of interior beauty and comfort and convenience.

And when he turned the key and put his foot on the accelerator, his sentiment grew to conviction. The car was incredibly nimble and quiet and smooth of ride.

Surprised, did we say? Well, just wait until he hits a stretch of open highway.

That great new engine is incredibly responsive. There is new balance and ease of motion. And the car is so easy to handle that it seems almost to know the road.

No question about it—this is the Cadillac that literally surpasses its own great reputation!

We suggest that you come in soon to see and drive this surprising new Cadillac. It's an experience you shouldn't postpone—and one you'll not soon forget.

You'll be welcome at any time.

MOVIE, STAGE ACTRESS FLEES HERE FROM REDS

CAMP KILMER, N.J. (AP)—Eva Szorenyi, prominent Hungarian movie and stage actress, has made her way to the United States—living a plot which would do Hollywood Justice.

The blonde, blue-eyed entertainer arrived here Wednesday with her husband and three children, after a plane trip from Vienna to McGuire Air Force Base.

Speaking fluent English with a slight accent, she said that she was forced to flee Hungary because she had been a member of the revolutionary committee in the National Theater of Budapest during the October revolt.

When the rebellion was temporarily crushed by Russia, she and her family headed for Austria Nov. 18 but were captured by Russian and Hungarian soldiers near the outskirts of Gyor, Hungary.

Flees From Train
With fingers crossed, she agreed the next day to return to Budapest. A Russian officer pleaded with her, "Please go back to the theater so that I may see you again playing Desdemona" from Shakespeare's Othello.

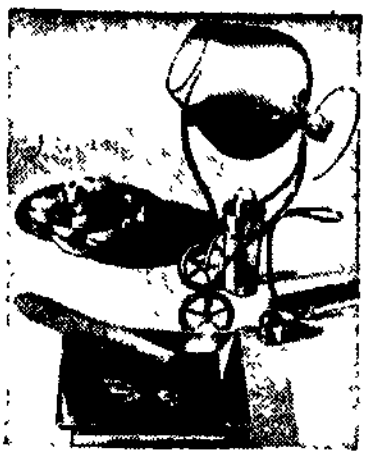

The family got on a train, ostensibly to go back to Budapest, but left the train a few stops later and headed for the Austrian border.

This time they made it without any trouble.

Speaking with emotion, the actress told a newsman:

"I did not want to leave the people who knew and loved me."

But she said friends told her

AFTER DINNER, the finishing touch is brandy and cigars, a ritual that will be aided and abetted by this brass bandy warmer and brass trimmed butlerly ashtray. By Alfred Dunhill.

she must leave or she might be arrested.

Her praise of the Hungarian patriots, who at one time used her apartment for an outpost, was lavish.

"Never in history has such a small nation fought so valiantly for its freedom against such an army as that of the Russians," she declared.

Her future plans are uncertain. With no relatives in the United States, she hopes she may get a job in Hollywood. She said Eric Johnson, president of the Motion Picture Assn. of America, was in Budapest a few months ago and urged her to come to the film capital.

Her husband is Istvan Oermenyi, stage lighting and sound technician. Her children are Steven, 13; Tomas, 10; and Gabriel, 4.

MERGER BOOM HEADING FOR COURT REVIEW

By SAM DAWSON

NEW YORK (AP)—The merger movement—booming along in its third great surge of the last 70 years of business history—is heading for court review today.

The urge of Bethlehem Steel and Youngstown Sheet and Tube to merge dramatizes the big question in the public mind: Is making a giant company out of two or more smaller ones a good or bad thing for the rest of us?

It is now up to the courts to decide whether this particular merger, one of the largest ever would: (1) Tend to lessen competition in the steel industry, as the Department of Justice charges, or (2) actually increase competition, as the companies contend, by putting them in a better position to challenge the industry's giant, U. S. Steel—which would still be the biggest.

Spurt Of Mergers
The great spurt of mergers since World War II has involved some 2,000 manufacturing companies with total assets of around 20 billion dollars. Merger in financial, retail and other sectors involved around 7,000.

The proposed steel merger would unite two companies with total assets of 2½ billion dollars. The first big merger movement was from 1890 to 1904, when bankers put together big integrated combines aimed at dominating a market. This was the great heyday of watered stocks. It led to the nation's antitrust laws.

Bankers Led
In the 1920s, bankers again led a merger movement, with the main aim apparently to provide glittering new security issues to feed the stock market boom.

The one since the second World War has been different. It was fostered by corporate managements, rather than bankers. The aims were various: to add to total capacity, to move into new market areas, to diversify a company's products. Sometimes a manufacturer acquired another company to gain a source of supply; sometimes to move into the consumer market.

Other reasons include: to get a company with a tax loss which would offset the other's gross earnings; to get top management personnel or a stable of good engineers; or just to survive, as happened in the auto, textile and coal industries.

JAPAN TO GET NEW LEADER

TOKYO (AP)—Tanzan Ishibashi, a controversial economist only 10 years in politics, won the presidency of Japan's ruling party today. He appears certain to be prime minister before Christmas. A convention of the Liberal Democratic party elected Ishibashi, Japan's 72-year-old minister of international trade and industry, after ailing Prime Minister Ichiro Hatoyama quit the party presidency. Hatoyama plans to resign the government leadership before the Diet (Parliament) meets Dec. 20.

Only a major convulsion in the party—which is unlikely—could keep Ishibashi from becoming prime minister. The Liberal-Democrats control the lower house of the Diet, which elects the government chief.

Ishibashi defeated Nobusuke Kishi, the party secretary general, 258-251 on the convention's second ballot. Some observers thought the narrow margin might signal eventual strife within the party.

Once he gains the prime ministry, Ishibashi is expected to seek a rapid expansion of Japan's trade with Communist China. Recently he announced his Ministry of International Trade was seeking special permits to sell the Reds items barred by the Western embargo on strategic materials. Critics claim Ishibashi is an "internationalist" and may upset the conservative, deflationary policies followed by the Hatoyama Cabinet. He favors heavy government investment and public works regardless of whether the budget is balanced.

Ishibashi was the son of a Buddhist priest. He studied Western philosophy at Waseda University, became a newspaperman and for years before the end of World War II headed the company which publishes the Oriental Economist, a leading Japanese publication in the field.

VET, MISSING 11 YEARS, IS AT BYBERRY

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—A World War II veteran reported missing 11 years ago and subsequently declared legally dead has been found in a mental hospital, confined since a few days after he disappeared from his home only 65 miles away, the FBI reports. This was the story of Chris Kusuplos, now 38, a mental patient at the Byberry State Hospital here as told by the FBI and person who knew him at Lancaster, Pa., his home town.

Kusuplos, veteran of two battles in the Army and service at Pearl Harbor Dec. 7, 1941, and Guadalcanal, was admitted to the Veterans Administration hospital at Coatesville, Pa., early in 1955.

Has New Name
Home on his paternal leave July 21, 1945, he attended a movie, returned home, and at 4 p.m. left the house. His family reported him missing and did not see him again.

But only a few days after he was picked up at Philadelphia by police of the Fairmount Park guard who has not been disclosed. Kusuplos still, Kusuplos somehow became identified to police as Anthony Nicholas.

In the meantime, the search went on for Chris Kusuplos. Seven years later in 1952, Lancaster County Orphan's Court declared him legally dead and his family eventually applied to the Veterans Administration for death benefits. The claim was filed in Washington and later the family sought the benefits in civil court action. The FBI entered the case.

In disclosing the case, the FBI did not say how its investigation had finally traced Chris Kusuplos. His family said it was happy he had been found.

Original Big Conewago Brethren Congregation Had Turbulent Early History Due To Conflicts, Misunderstandings With Bermudian Church

The Big Conewago Congregation was organized in 1741. At the time of the organization it was the next to the largest congregation in the brotherhood. It comprised a large territory about East and Adams Counties. After the Berlin and York Springs in York, Bermudian Seventh Day Baptists Brethren ceased to exist as an organization about the year 1820, the entire northern half of York County also became Big Conewago territory.

The first preacher, was George Adam Martin, who was born in Germany in 1715, and came to America at an early day. He was a member of the Reformed Church under Peter Miller in the Tulpehocken country. He united with the Church of the Brethren in 1735 and was ordained by Peter Becker in 1739. He lived first in the Coventry Church, later in the Conestoga Church. He then moved to the Big Conewago Church and became their first presiding elder.

The account given of Martin by Brumbaugh in his "History of the Brethren" states that Martin was a rash, impulsive, impatient man. He possessed an unusual mind, well trained in German and Latin, was a logical reasoner, a profound speaker and a ready writer. He did not kindly receive admonition, because he declared that everybody who knew him considered him a great Doctor of Holy Writ. He argued with his brethren in the Big Conewago Church that needless restrictions were adopted in that they did not allow anyone who was not baptized to partake of the Holy Sacraments. The controversy continued in Big Conewago Church for some time, terminated about 1760.

Congregation Of 77

In 1770 this congregation contained seventy-seven members. Some of the names given by Morgan Edwards were: George Brown, preacher; John Helner, Peter Fox, Anthony Dierdorff, John Dierdorff, Nicholas Moyer, Manasseh Brough, Michael Bosserman, David Ahnhard, Daniel Baker, Andrew Trimmer, Peter Dierdorff, John Neagly, Welly Brissel, Lawrence Baker, Nicholas Baker Jr., Adam Dick, Henry Radibush, Jacob Sweigard, Peter Neiper, Joseph Latshaw, Abraham Stauffer, Henry Dierdorff, John Burkholder, Eustance Rentzel, Barnett Augengauß, Michael Brissel, Matthias Bowser, Philip Snell, Henry Brissel, George Wagner, George Rosser and their wives. The unmarried were Peter Werltz, Ann Mummert, Christian Frey, Samuel Arnold, Mary Latshaw, Catherine Sidebaler, Sarah Brissel, Nicholas Baker, Marillas Baker, Jacob Brown and Rudolph Brown.

As early as 1736, a constituency of the Cloister of Ephrata, Pa., moved to the Bermudian country. This was a section of country along the Bermudian Creek in York County, nearly in the center of the Big Conewago Church. These Cloister Brethren worshipped with the Brethren of Big Conewago Church. Conrad Bessel, founder of the Cloister, was noted for his proselyting attitude, and, it is presumed, when he heard of the controversy in Big Conewago Church, he organized his Bermudian brethren in a Seventh Day Baptist organization in about 1758.

When George Martin was disowned in Big Conewago Congregation, because he was at a loss to find fellowship and journeyed to the Cloister at Ephrata in 1762 and became a disciple of Bessel. John Horn was his associate on this visit. Some brethren from the Big Conewago Church were opposed to his excommunication, namely: John Sterner, Peter and Abraham Knipple, Frederick Furhman, George Schleidler, Peter Zug and a Brother Fink. They were anxious to reinstate him. After hearing of his acceptance of the Ephrata doctrine they dropped the matter. The Bermudian Church was under the control of Bessel and Peter Miller, until Bessel sent Rudolph Neagle and Jacob Gass to the Bermudian Church in 1762, and ordered the members to receive George Adam Martin as elder and minister.

Drew Large Crowds

The preaching of Martin drew large crowds. Being right in the center of Big Conewago Church, he might have won many of his former members to the Bermudian Church, but then John Mack, son of Alexander Mack, the founder, and a Brother Staub went among the members and explained to them the error and danger of the new movement. This blocked the way for Martin to win over to his Bermudian Church members from the Big Conewago Church.

In spite of all their misunderstandings the Bermudian Seventh Day Baptist Brethren and the Conewago Brethren worshipped together in suitable houses and barns for quite a number of years.

About 1820 the Bermudian Seventh Day Baptist Church ceased to exist as an organization, having passed under the influence and control of the Brethren.

Leatherman Elected

After the removal of Martin, elder Daniel Leatherman was placed in charge of the Big Conewago Church and on his removal to Maryland 1750, Nicholas Martin was elected elder. He too moved to Maryland and was succeeded by George Brown, grandfather of the late Adam Brown. After the death of George Brown, Isaac Latshaw was placed in charge and after his death, William Trimmer, who remained elder until the congregation was divided in 1849.

Adam Brown was elected as brother to the word at an election held at the house of Brother John Mummert on the 26th day of May 1847. At a meeting held at Brother Jacob Lerew's in Big Conewago Congregation election for a Brother at the word was held with Daniel Longenecker and Joseph Myers each getting 26 votes. It was also elected to divide the congregation.

At the time of the division of the Big Conewago Church in 1849, the following were ministers: William Trimmer, Elder in charge; Daniel Longenecker, Andrew Dierdorff, Peter Dierdorff, Joseph Myers, Jacob Brown and Adam Brown.

Services In Houses

The preaching services were held in the houses where they were large enough, and the Love Feasts and the bread-breaking were held in barns.

Tradition says that all the annual meetings (seven yearly or annual meetings) were held within the bounds of the Big Conewago Church) held in the Big Conewago Congregation were on farms located avenue of access to the house was crowded with vehicles and horses but many went on foot."

Tradition has it that Dierdorff was a Tunker preacher in the Big Conewago area for about 50 years until his death in 1786. Church records, which are meager, do not support this.

The trees growing in Brooklyn and the four other New York City boroughs number about 2,300,000.

STATE POLICE COMMANDERS TO BE SHIFTED

HARRISBURG (AP) — The first large scale transfer of Pennsylvania state police district commanders will take effect Jan. 17, Col. Earl J. Henry, state police commissioner, yesterday announced the transfers which he described as "routine."

However, Lt. Col. A. F. Dahlstrom, deputy commissioner, said that district commanders had not been shuffled in a similar move for 10 years or longer.

Col. Dahlstrom added that he had no further definition of the word "routine" as used by Henry to describe the transfers.

BROWNS MILLS, N.J. (AP) — Seven Hungarian refugees suffering from tuberculosis now are being treated free at the Deborah Sanatorium here.

The medical treatment offered the Hungarians will be for TB, heart disease and cancer, he said.

Cadillac

Surpasses its Own Great Reputation!

You're looking at a mighty surprised man.

Almost all of his adult life he has owned Cadillac cars. And so, when he came in to see and drive the new 1957 Cadillac, he thought he knew about what to expect.

Well, here he is—barely under way in the city's traffic—and already he is learning the startling truth.

He is learning that nothing could adequately prepare a man for the new "car of cars"—not even Cadillac ownership itself!

He suspected it, in fact, the instant he caught his first glimpse of this newest

Cadillac creation. This was an entirely new kind of Cadillac beauty—brilliantly fresh in line and in contour.

And then he opened the door and swung into the driver's seat—and found added evidence all around him. On every side were new miracles of interior beauty and comfort and convenience.

And when he turned the key and put his foot on the accelerator, his sentiment grew to conviction. The car was incredibly nimble and quiet and smooth of ride.

Surprised, did we say? Well, just wait until he hits a stretch of open highway.

That great new engine is incredibly responsive. There is new balance and ease of motion. And the car is so easy to handle that it seems almost to know the road.

No question about it—this is the Cadillac that literally surpasses its own great reputation!

We suggest that you come in soon to see and drive this surprising new Cadillac. It's an experience you shouldn't postpone—and one you'll not soon forget.

You'll be welcome at any time.

COAL INDUSTRY IS CITED FOR "BARGAINING"

PITTSBURGH (AP) — A "new look" in labor relations has made the coal industry an example of good collective bargaining, says Edward G. Fox, president of the Bituminous Coal Operators Assn.

A new bargaining method with the United Mine Workers in the past few years has "avoided the direct costs of shutdowns," Fox added last night in a speech prepared for delivery at a meeting of the Coal Mining Institute of America. Fox was unable to be present because of illness in his family and his address was read by an assistant.

The Bituminous Coal Operators Assn. was formed, Fox said, to negotiate with the UMW. Its first president was the late Harry Moses who intimately knew John L. Lewis, president of the UMW, and who adopted the policy of private negotiating sessions with the labor leader.

Almost Secrecy

Fox, named to head the organization after Moses' death, said bargaining under the "new look" reduces fanfare to a minimum and these meetings with labor leaders, are held with as little publicity as possible, almost to the point of secrecy.

Defendant Guilty In Vice Trials

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Another defendant was found guilty yesterday in Philadelphia vice ring trials after testimony by an 18-year-old Merlon, Pa., girl.

Joseph Kaytes, 36, a photographer waived jury trial and was convicted of a morals charge before Judge L. Stauffer Oliver. The girl told the court that she engaged in an illicit act with Kaytes after after posing for nude pictures in a downtown studio. Seven character witnesses appeared for Kaytes one of 18 defendants in the probe. Sentence was deferred.

TRADE SHOCKS DODGER PLAYER

By JACK HAND

NEW YORK (AP) — With Jackie Robinson playing for the New York Giants and Sal Maglie pitching for Brooklyn, the world is topsy turvy for New York area baseball fans. It's almost as confusing as the time Leo Durocher switched to the Giants.

Of course, Robinson may not play for the Giants, Jackie, who will be 38 Jan. 31, is taking a few days to "think it over" after yesterday's shocking news that he had been traded to the Giants for a reported $30,000 and Dick Littlefield, a left-handed pitcher who has been with eight other big league clubs.

Charles Feeney, Giants' vice president, says, "I'm confident that he'll play for us. He told me he was undecided on what he was going to do but would let us know as soon as he makes up his mind."

Son Cries

Robinson, reached by phone at his Stamford, Conn., home, obviously was dazed by the sudden turn of events. His young son Jackie Jr. even cried when he learned his dad no longer was a Dodger. "But we (Jackie and his wife) explained to him that baseball is like that," said Robinson.

Asked if he would continue to play or planned to retire, Robinson answered, "I really haven't had a chance to give it much thought. I want to get away for a few days, relax and think it over."

Since 1954 there have been recurring stories that Robinson was getting ready to hang up his spikes. He also has managerial ambitions.

"Naturally I'm disappointed to leave Brooklyn," said Robinson. "I've had wonderful years in Brooklyn. I received wonderful treatment from the fans and made lasting friendships. They are a lot of nice guys. I hope they can win again — unless the Giants can win it."

Six presidents of the United States were National Guardsmen.

dusty, Fox said, has been six years of peace without strikes. He added:

"As a result of the stability we have won, we are keeping our old customers and getting new ones. We're selling more coal because we're a dependable source of supply."

Three Principles

The coal operators association, Fox declared, adopted these principles:

"1. That strikes and stoppages were economically wasteful and could be ruinous—good for neither the industry nor its employees. We would do our best to remove them from our industry.

"2. That always bearing in mind the interest and well-being of the public, we do our level best to keep both the government and self-appointed spokesmen for the public from becoming parties to our dealings with the mine workers union.

"3. We would work with the union in a businesslike way in an attempt to solve our mutual problems to the best advantage of each."
